REJECTS CURLEY'S PLAINT

O'Brien Refuses to Present Case Against "Fin. Com." in Mahoney Incident

District Attorney Thomas C. O'Brien today refused to place before the grand jury the complaints of Mayor Curley, who claims the Finance Commission's report relative to Health Commissioner Francis X. Mahoney's actions in the Richmond Live Poultry case amount to slander or criminal libel.

The Mayor asked that the commissioners be indicted for their alleged slander of his health commissioner.

The matter was brought before District Attorney O'Brien by Assistant Corporation Counsel Joseph P. Lyons at Mayor Curley's request.

The district attorney told Lyons to "take the matter to the lower courts and thrash it out there. Then," he said, "if it comes up to us we will act upon it."

The grand jury is now investigating the Richmond Live Poultry "bribery" charges. Yesterday Health Commissioner Mahoney and his assistant, Dr. Patrick H. Mullowney, who was suspended for a month, testified and other witnesses may be called.

$4,000,000 in Lincoln Debts Paid by Ford

Detroit, March 9.—All creditors of the Lincoln Motor Car Company, purchased last year by Henry Ford at a receivers' sale, have been reimbursed in full by Mr. Ford, it was officially announced today.

The sum needed to pay all claims was approximately $4,000,000.

Mr. Ford took the step, despite the fact that he was not required to do so under the terms of his purchase.

All creditors will receive 100 cents on the dollar. They previously had received 42½ per cent. The $4,000,000 given by Mr. Ford pays the remaining 57½ per cent.

Mr. Ford paid $8,000,000 for the Lincoln Company at the receivers' sale last year.

Clergymen's Committee Demands Removal of Officials Accused of Attending Revels

Dismissal of two special Lynn police officers, who, it is alleged, were present at a wine party at a Grosvenor park residence from February 11 to 14, was demanded today by a committee of the Lynn Interchurch Union.

The committee, which consists of Herbert S. Smith, secretary of the Y. M. C. A., and Rev. C. J. Underhill and Rev. H. S. Hageman, pastors of local churches, also reports

BRIDE TO GIVES ROAD FIGHT HER JITNEYS IN COUE MATE 71 TOWNS

She's Going to "Make Him Get Down on Knees and Beg Pardon"

Bay State Permitted by State to Run Lines in Many Communities

The honeymoonless bride, Mrs. Mildred Dennen McGuinness, said today she will make her husband, to whom she is "not even half married," retract his story that she "Coued" him into matrimony.

"I'll make him get down on his knees and beg my pardon. I'll force him to take back everything," she declared.

Walter I. McGuinness of No. 40 Fayette street, Cambridge, is the young husband. He is twenty. His bride, twenty-two, lives with her parents at No. 58 Warren street, Arlington.

The couple were secretly married last June. Their honeymoon comprised a trip to the movies, after which they separated and returned to the homes of their respective parents.

"HOUNDED," HE SAYS.

Now McGuinness, asserting he was hounded into the marriage by Mildred Dennen, a stenographer in his office, is suing for annulment.

"She wouldn't leave me alone," said McGuinness. "She left love notes on my desk morning, noon and night. She kept at me until I took out the marriage license."

The bride, on the other hand denies that. She says:

"If a girl did that no fellow would ever marry her. But at that, I hope all fellows are not like Walter McGuinness.

"I'll be glad to see our marriage

The Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway, which operates the largest trackage of any street railway company in the world, today was authorized by the Department of Public Utilities to operate jitneys in seventy-one cities and towns of this State, including Boston.

In several communities the Eastern Massachusetts has already torn up its tracks because the lines did not pay. It will be necessary for the company to obtain local approval before operating jitneys in any of the cities or towns in question.

Jitneys are now being operated in several of the cities and towns by private companies, notably Gloucester, Newburyport, Malden and Melrose.

A vigorous protest was made by residents of those places against granting permission to the Eastern Massachusetts to operate jitneys in their communities. They argued that as the company had left them without transportation it should not be permitted to come in and compete against the independent jitney companies.

BOYS, 14 AND 19, TO DIE ON GALLOWS

Rome, Ga., March 9 (By International News Service).—Two mountain boys, one fourteen and the other nineteen, sat in the Floyd County Prison today, awaiting the dreaded hour when the laws of the State say the public hangman must take their lives.

Their mother, Mrs. R. D. Baker, frail, careworn, is with them, praying that something will happen to save them. They were convicted of killing Deputy J. W. Norton of Durham, Ga., and are scheduled to hang one week from today.

ARMOUR-MORRIS TO MERGE NEXT WEEK

Chicago, March 9.—The merger of Armour & Co. and Morris & Co. will be consummated within a week. It was learned today. Within that time the valuation of the Armour stock to be exchanged as part of the purchase price will be fixed by arbitration.

The price at which the stock will be accepted by the Morris interests is understood to be the only point yet undecided.

Albert H. Wiggin of the Chase Securities Corporation of New York and James R. Forgan of the First National Bank of Chicago were agreed upon as arbitrators.

It is considered the filing of a complaint against the merger by Secretary Wallace of the Department of Agriculture will not block the merger.

EX-POLICE SERGEANT OF CHICAGO SHOT

Chicago, March 9.—Patrick McIntyre, a former police sergeant discharged by the civil service trial board and Joseph Rangora, alleged gunman, were shot, the latter probably fatally, today by assailants who escaped in an automobile.

Neither notified the police, but Rangora staggered into a hospital within five minutes McIntyre was taken into another hospital.

NEW GIANT FOR RED SOX SQUAD

By CHARLES E. PARKER

Hot Springs, Ark., March 9.—Six feet more of ball player is to be added to the 191 feet already listed on the Red Sox playing roster. "Dutch" Gramph, Columbia University flinger of parts, is that individual.

He is to report here Sunday and comes bearing a recommendation from Charley Barrett, Columbia trainer and Connie Mack scout. The new giant is a right-hander, standing one inch or two over six feet and weighing nearly 190 pounds.

Practice today was interrupted by a shower, but not before the squad had enjoyed a good work-out or before "Lefty" O'Doul had planted a couple of balls over the right-field wall.

The more Chance sees of this baby the more inclined he is to keep him working in the outfield at every opportunity, and if one of the other southpaws develops real quality, "Lefty" may get a permanent garden assignment.

RETRIAL HEARING DELAYED A WEEK

Latest developments today in the case of Nicola Sacco, hunger striker, and Bartolomeo Vanzetti were:

Postponement of the hearing on motions for new trial because of failure of counsel to agree on admission of affidavits and filing of new affidavits by the Government.

The continuance was over the protest of Sacco, who agreed only after argument with his counsel.

Admission of Government agents that they believe the "mysterious Fred" referred to by Mrs. Lola R. Andrews of Quincy as one of the party that forced her to sign a statement retracting her testimony at the murder trial, is Fred Biedenkap, agitator, hooted from Boston Common in 1918.

Passionate pleading of Vanzetti to Sacco to break his twenty-three day fast as they lunched in Dedham jail.

Emphatic denial of jail attendants that food had been smuggled to Sacco.

ASKS JURY TO INDICT CHILD SLAYER

Philadelphia, March 9 (By International News Service).—Four bills of indictments will be presented today to the Grand Jury against Wylie F. (Texas) Morgan by District Attorney Lewis B. Fife for causing the death of Lillian Gillmore, whom he took from the street near her home about ten days ago and attacked, causing the child's death.

PROBE DISAPPEARANCE OF STEEL CO. ASSETS

Buffalo, N. Y., May 9.—Receivers for the L. R. Steel interests which failed yesterday today began an investigation of the disappearance of the company's assets. The company defaulted on a $255,000 payment to the F. H. Nelson Stores and counsel for stockholders seek to learn how $26,000,000 Steel company stock dwindled to $5,000,000.

CONSTABLE INDICTED IN HERRIN KILLED

West Frankfort, Ill., March 9 (By International News Service).—John Kelley, constable at Zeigler, one of the men indicted in connection with the Herrin mine massacre of last June in which 22 men lost their lives, was shot and killed by Zeigler, according to word received here today. Zeigler is a small mining town near here.

SACCO-VANZETTI MOTION FOR NEW TRIAL IS POSTPONED

The stage was set for the hearing. Armed guards patrolled inside and outside of Dedham courthouse. The defendants were in the prisoner's cock. Mrs. Rose Sacco was seated a few feet away, her eyes intent on her husband.

A court attendant intoned his formal opening. Judge Webster Thayer entered. There was a hush. He started speaking.

He told how counsel for both sides had promised at the last hearing to come to an agreement on certain matters, particularly the affidavit obtained by Attorney Thomas J. McAnarney from Juryman McNamara that he had seen Foreman Ripley with bullets like those introduced against the defendant.

The judge asked, "Have you come to an agreement?"

District Attorney Harold P. Williams declared that there had not been any agreement as the affidavit was hearsay.

Attorney McAnarney offered to submit the affidavit with all objectionable parts stricken out and proceed on the remainder.

The court declined to rule on this, as Mr. McAnarney asked for one week's postponement on the ground that he had not had opportunity of studying the Mrs. Andrews affidavit, filed Wednesday.

Judge Thayer made a lengthy statement, in which he decried the criticism directed against attorneys for both sides for the delay and explained how Attorney Fred Moore of the defence had rushed for seven months, night and day, preparing for his case.

ASKS DEFENDANTS.

The court expressed the opinion that the defence should have more time. Then he inquired: "Does this request come from the defendants? I would like to hear from them personally."

Attorney Moore conferred with Sacco. He objected violently. Spectators watched closely. McAnarney consulted Vanzetti. He agreed immediately. Then Sacco acquiesced.

The judge asked: "Does the defendant, Vanzetti, agree to such continuance?"

The answer came in a strong, confident tone.

The court then directed the same question to Sacco. There was a pause. Finally he said: "Yes, your honor." His voice was so feeble those a few feet away could not hear.

HEAVILY GUARDED.

McAnarney asked that Vanzetti be quartered at Dedham Jail for the week interval, but the court did not know whether it had jurisdiction. Adjournment was taken until next Friday.

Throughout the discussion between attorneys and the court, Mrs. Rose Sacco, a pathetic little figure, all in brown, kept her eyes fastened on her husband.

Sacco shuffled into the chamber at 10 o'clock. The blackness of his hair accentuated the prison pallor and the thinness of his cheeks, due to his hunger strike. He appeared fifteen pounds lighter than normal. Both hands were shackled. He was surrounded by guards the entire distance from jail to court, a five-minute walk.

Vanzetti was the opposite. He appeared strong. His cheeks were ruddy. He seemed literally to generate energy. He went all the way from Charlestown Prison ironed to one deputy warden.

HEGS SACCO TO EAT.

Mrs. Sacco kissed her husband and chatted with him. Both appeared disheartened. When Vanzetti entered both men appraised each other, then they clasped hands. Neither spoke for a full minute.

Vanzetti broke into a passionate pleading in Italian for Sacco to eat. The hunger striker remained obdurate.

This noon Sacco and Vanzetti sat down together in the mess hall of Dedham jail. Plates were placed before each. Vanzetti ate baked fish and relished it. He pleaded constantly with his friend to partake.

While the two condemned men were together, government officials were interested in checking the movements of Fred Biedenkapp, noted Red leader, who declared from the stage of Dudley Street Theatre that the "eleventh hour" would come and "Red persecutions will lend to bloodshed."

ACCUSED BY WOMAN

Their interest is due to Mrs. Lola R. Andrews of Quincy, she referred several times in her affidavit, retracting her testimony at the trial, to a mysterious "Fred."

Her story on the witness stand was that she had talked with Sacco near the Slater & Morrill shoe factory where Paymaster Frederick A. Parmenter and Alessandro Berardelli, his guard were killed and robbed.

This "Fred," she asserts, was one of the men that gave her the "third degree" in a room in the Hotel Essex, Boston, where she was held a prisoner behind locked doors and then, when she was weakened, forced her to sign a statement denying her testimony at the trial.

This is all contained in her affidavit to District Attorney Williams, the new evidence that is partly responsible for the delay.

No one in authority would say whether the government intended to search for Biedenkapp so as to grill him but the inference obtained was that he was being sought so that he may be confronted by Mrs. Andrews.

Lawrence Eagles Refuse to Let Hall

Lawrence, March 9.—Officers of the Lawrence Aerie of Eagles today cancelled the engagement of Eagles Hall on Broadway to a committee that is arranging for a mass meeting of sympathizers of Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti next Sunday.

The Sacco-Vanzetti committee is having difficulties in obtaining a hall for its Sunday meeting, owing to the riot in St. Michael's Hall last Sunday, when shots were fired and one man wounded.

Police have translated a number of pamphlets, which were seized at the meeting last Sunday, and declare them to be of a most inflammatory radical nature. Department of Justice agents are seeking Antonio Persti of New York, who was the chief speaker at last Sunday's meeting.

that the police heads of this city and Mayor McPhetres failed to act promptly upon the information furnished them of the presence of the officers at the revels.

They threaten to take the matter before the Essex County district attorney and ask for Grand Jury proceedings unless the accused officers are dismissed.

The committee finds that Mayor McPhetres was not present at the revels and did not know that they were going on. The motor car which was standing in front of the house, and which they thought to be McPhetres', has been identified by the committee as that of a Lynn physician who was called to treat some of the revelers for acute alcoholism.

CHORUS GIRLS PRESENT

The police, who have also been investigating the Grosvenor Park revels, declare the affair has been "exaggerated."

They say the two maids, who kept house for the revellers during the four days' oystering, declare that there were no women or girls present until the last night, when taxicabs carried three chorus girls from Boston.

These girls, they said, danced and sang from midnight, when they arrived, until the early hours of the morning, when they went away.

GERTRUDE ATHERTON SEES MAN'S DOWNFALL

New York, March 9 (By Cosmopolitan News Service).—The fall of man is imminent and today woman is regaining her place as superior to him, Gertrude Atherton told the American Woman's Association. Professional business women had gathered to protest against the statements of Alonzo B. See, millionaire elevator manufacturer, that women lack reasoning capacity.

"How very important," was Mrs. Atherton's dismissal of the See remarks.

Ethel Waite Mumford, playwright and novelist; Rachel Crothers, playwright; Mary Heaton Vorse, novelist, and others have challenged See to debate the subject of woman's intelligence as contrasted with his own male intelligence.

FINDS ISADORA IS NOT CITIZEN, AFTER ALL

Washington, March 9.—Isadora Duncan, who says she does not like the United States, is not an American citizen, the Department of Labor has decided. She lost her citizenship, the department held in a decision announced today through her marriage to Serge Essenine, a Russian, April 1, 1922.

Isadora Duncan

Recently on leaving this country with her husband the dancer took occasion to deride American institutions and incidentally took a verbal shot at prohibition and what she described as the kind of liquid refreshment one was compelled to drink now, if at all.

After reading press reports of her opinions regarding the United States, Secretary Davis of the Labor Department announced that steps would be taken with a view to depriving her of her American citizenship.

Today's decision of the department simplifies matters.

TODAY'S NEWS IN EUROPE

GERMANY

Mayence.—French troops occupied Cronenberg, in the Munster area and expelled the German security police from Witten and Hort-Emscher. The burgomaster of Buer was fined ten million marks for refusing to produce gas, coal and light for the French troops.

GREAT BRITAIN

London.—Protests continue to pour into the government offices daily against the Franco-Belgian customs barrier in the Ruhr and Rhineland. It is declared British trade there is being strangled.

IRELAND

90 FROGS SHIPPED TO JAPAN FOR BREEDING

Tacoma, Wash., March 9.—Ninety handpicked frogs, guaranteed to be long jumpers and baritone croakers are at sea today on the steamer Manila Maru, destined for a life on the islands of Nippon. The frogs compose a consignment shipped to Japan for breeding purposes. They will be held in cold storage until their new home is reached. They are valued at about $1 apiece.

STRAY CAT BITES 2 IN EAST BOSTON

A stray cat, apparently gone mad lisped upon Virginia Dallio, twelve years old, in the yard of her home, No. 291 Sumner street, East Boston, and bit her hand and leg.

The cat then turned upon Frank Gibbons, twenty-two, who went to the rescue of the girl. Before Gibbons succeeded in killing the animal, he was badly bitten.

Gibbons and the girl were talking in the yard when the cat appeared.

They watched it for a few minutes as it ran about in circles. Suddenly the cat sprang at the girl.

The girl screamed as the cat bit and clawed at her arm and leg. Gibbons seized a broom and started beating the animal, which left the girl and sprang at Gibbons. Gibbons finally battered the cat to death. He and the girl were treated at the East Boston Relief Hospital.

ELKINS' BROTHER IN CONTEMPT OF COURT

Washington, March 9.—Blaine Elkins, brother of Senator Elkins, of West Virginia, was held in contempt of court today by Chief Justice McCoy of District of Columbia Supreme Court because of alleged failure to obey an order directing him to increase from $250 to $500 a month the payments to his divorced wife for support of their son. Sentence was deferred.

3,000,000 Rifles for What?
As Eagles Fight Blood for Knowledge Same Old Europe
—By Arthur Brisbane—

Copyright, 1923, Star Co.

RUSSIA ORDERS three million new rifles in Sweden, Czecho-Slovakia, wherever they can be got in a hurry. That's the interesting news. It recalls Lenin's statement two or three days ago, that it was "about time for Russia to be doing something."

Russia means to fight, presumably against Poland as a start. She might show the world the new process. It would not consist in getting three million rifles to send three million men creeping over the earth. The new plan would get five or ten thousand flying machines, with four or five men in each, and attack enemy cities with gas and TNT, leaving the enemy to attack Russia if he chose. Attacking Russia, as Napoleon learned, is discouraging work. Future fighting will be done as hawks and eagles fight, not like crawling caterpillars.

AT JOHNS HOPKINS UNIVERSITY young men whose blood and health are perfect, can pay their way by selling their blood to professors for use in transfusion experiments. The young student lies down while a small amount of blood is taken from him. Then he is paid $50.

No student is allowed to supply more than three transfusions in one year.

THE GHOSTS of ancient students from the thirteenth century would be amazed at that.

Charles Foley in the Echo de Paris describes Paris students, from all over Europe, as they were on clear nights "climbing to the church bell tower to read their lessons by the inexpensive light of the moon."

They begged their food, lived in miserable hovels, and they REALLY WORKED in Winter. At 5 o'clock the student was on his way to the class, carrying his lantern and ink horn. The professor priest in purple cassock, or Egyptian in black robe, sat on a little stool with three or four candles to light the darkness of a cold, damp room. Students sitting on straw scattered over the bare ground, copied out the lessons in the half darkness.

THE FRENCH have always taken education seriously. When this writer attended French schools, even young boys were up at half past five. In Winter, and had two hours of study before breakfast of soup and dry bread.

Education comes more easily now.

THE NEWS from Europe shows that France has taken over Dortmund, in her gradual absorption, disarming and expelling the police.

The death rate among children in the Ruhr is increasing rapidly, due to lack of food.

The value of the franc falls off again slightly. The mark, strange to say, is higher than it was when the French marched in. Perhaps because the French have to buy marks to finance themselves on German soil.

FRANCE'S NAVAL program shows that her intelligent government means to build very light naval units. Desire for economy is one reason. Another reason is a smaller unit offers a smaller target to bombs from the air, and means smaller loss when the bomb hits. Except as an escort for commercial fleets, fighting ships on the water will be [illegible] 20 years. Nations will not build forty million dollar battleships to be destroyed by a five thousand dollar flying machine.

OF ALL young women teaching school in Connecticut, 46 per cent. are daughters of foreign-born parents. That should enlighten Americans who say, "We don't want those uneducated foreigners coming here."

HALF THE American school children in Connecticut are taught by daughters of those "uneducated foreigners," and if it were not for foreigners the work of the United States wouldn't be done, railroads wouldn't have been built, and annulled. It'll be all over with after a court session Tuesday. My mother was going to sue for annulment last summer, but the cost was great and we decided to let my husband do so.

DEAD MAN "SIGNED" NAME

"He hesitated because he feared arrest for perjury. He was a minor, you see, and needed a parent's consent to marriage. One of our witnesses signed his father's name, and his father is dead 13 years. He has already admitted this.

"It is quite foolish for anyone to say his mother sought an annulment long ago. She wanted it no more than we did. When she heard of our marriage, she hurried to City Hall to sign her name and make it fully legal.

"Walter was working in the Kilby street insurance office when I took a job there. I was a stenographer in the department he worked in. I'm sorry his imagination made him say I pinned love notes to his desk.

"Neither did I 'Coue' him into the marriage. I don't see what can have made him say that. We used to like each other so. I don't care for and separated. It was very prosaic.

"There was no honeymoon. They say that's the best part of marriage. Well, if it is, we missed the best part. We're not even half married.

"The girls I worked with will say his statements about our relations at the office are untrue. It was just an ordinary affair. We met, he made dates and we went out together.

"FOOLISH," SHE SAID

"We did something foolish, but we stopped before we had gone too far, and for that I'm glad. On second thought, I may not say a word o him in court. Let him be mean, I'll forget. Everything will be fine when the court annuls it."

"Mildred raised such a fuss that I had to go through with the ceremony," McGuinness said, in his version. "It was just a marriage—that's all. Afterwards we went to the movies, but I didn't enjoy it.

"Things got so bad I left my job and went to New York. Eventually I returned. Gee, how she kept after me as soon as she heard I was back. Only two weeks ago she begged me take a honeymoon with her. She threatened to drive me out of the insurance district if I didn't. She's a very determined girl."

DEMANDS PROBE OF INSTALMENT STOCK BROKERS

A demand for an investigation of the "partial-payment" brokers, whose sharp practices are alleged to have robbed investors of many hundreds of thousands of dollars, was served upon the State Department of Public Utilities today by the Legislative Committee on Banks and Banking.

The demand originated with Senator William J. Francis of Charlestown.

He said that persons of small means are encouraged to invest their savings with a chos of brokers who eagerly announce their readiness to accept partial payments for the stock.

These brokers promise to purchase the stock and to hold it for the investor until the investors payments are completed. Francis said, but they pocket the money, fail to buy the stock and either decamp or allow themselves to go into bankruptcy and failure.

Francis said there is no way at present by which the gullible investors may recoup their losses.

PRODUCER SUED BY DANCER FOR $50,000

New York, March 9.—Nita Rose, a professional dancer, has brought suit for $50,000 damages against James Montgomery, a theatrical producer, in the Brooklyn Supreme Court, alleging that on July 7 last in the offices of the Vanderbilt Producing Company in Manhattan assaulted her. When she is in a show the wives must hold on to their husbands or she will take them away."

Nita Rose

The dancer asserts there was no justification for the statement and that they had injured her reputation.

DENIED NEW TRIAL AGAINST 'ADONIS COP'

Miss Nora Stevens, Back Bay housemaid, who recently lost a breach of promise suit against "Teddy" Anderson, the Adonis of the police force, lost out again today when Judge Joseph Walsh of the Cambridge Superior Court denied her petition for a retrial. She was represented by Attorney Thomas Lyons.

MORPHINE IN CREELEY HOME

Housekeeper Says Drug Was Taken by Order of Ex-Solon's Doctor

Morphine was taken into the home of Thomas I. Creeley, wealthy Belmont market gardener and former legislator, shortly before he was taken from his home to the Symmes Hospital, according to his former housekeeper, Mrs. Harriet C. Cummings.

She testified in the East Cambridge court today that it was taken in by nurses installed in the home by Dr. Edward R. Utley, whose petition for appointment as permanent guardian of Creeley is being heard in Probate session.

Mrs. Harriet Cummings.

Mrs. Cummings said also that shortly before Creeley was taken to the hospital a routine was maintained whereby he was half starved. This, too, she said, occurred shortly after the arrival of one of the nurses assigned by Dr. Utley at Creeley's home.

She denied that his home was filthy and vermin-infested, as alleged by several witnesses who testified yesterday for Dr. Utley. Her testimony was corroborated by Miss Maralyn Carr.

She declared that she knew nothing about the contract signed by Creeley which gave her $40 a month and board during the remainder of Creeley's life and $5,000 after his death, until after it had been drawn and signed. Dr. Utley has asked to have this contract annulled.

Testimony of Dr. Abraham Myerson and Dr. Harry W. Goodall, alienists, that Creeley was unable to speak connectedly was flatly denied by three neighbors.

Miss Maralyn Carr

Mrs. Ella C. Chenery, Franklin Chenery and George W. Chenery, declared that Creeley seemed entirely rational, and that on the day before he was adjudged insane, he seemed brighter than ever. They also denied that the Creeley home was filthy.

Attorney James H. Vahey, for Dr. Utley, brought out, however, that George Chenery was so wounded in the head by a lantern when he went out at night.

Dr. Myerson and Dr. Goodall agreed that Creeley was better off at the hospital. Dr. Myerson said that on one occasion when he visited the Creeley home he found Creeley living in a small poorly ventilated room, heated by a bad-smelling oil heater, and with all the bedclothes over his head.

WOMAN IS JAILED IN BIG THEFT

Mrs. Victoria Cahoon of Brookline Accused of Fleecing Store Out of $1,600

Mrs. Victoria Cahoon of Garrison road, Brookline, the mother of three children, appeared in Municipal Court today, charged with fraudulently obtaining $1,600 worth of goods from a local department store. She was sentenced to two years in the House of Correction.

Behind this charge, according to the police, lies a trail of criminal operations which mulcted Boston stores to the extent of $10,000 in the last three years.

They declared the woman to be one of the cleverest criminal operators this city has ever known, a former co-worker of Patrick H. Tobin, serving time for passing bad checks, and with a long record of her own.

ARRESTED AT HER HOME.

Mrs. Cahoon was arrested at her Garrison road home, charged with obtaining goods under the name of Mrs. Frank Golden, Washington and Minneapolis society woman, formerly of Brookline.

The arrest was made by Special Officers Sullivan and Murphy of the Lagrange street station.

When arrested she told the officers Mrs. Golden owed her a sum of money and had given her permission to use the society's woman's name in obtaining goods on credit.

Much to the surprise of the defendant, Mrs. Golden appeared in court today and denied any knowledge of Mrs. Cahoon, declaring she had never seen or heard of her until the time of the arrest.

HAS MANY ALIASES.

Mrs. Golden was accompanied by her son-in-law, Vice-President Burton of the New England Investment Company, of State street, who is engaged in the brokerage business in Washington. Mr. Burton, who is also an attorney, came on from Washington to lend his support to the prosecution of Mrs. Cahoon.

Mrs. Cahoon, the police say, is variously known as Margaret Donner, Madame Vic, Margaret Oram and half a dozen other aliases, and is an old offender.

Originally the wife of Stanley J. Cahoon, now dead, she is charged with having been engaged in criminal practices for some years. A co-worker of "Pat" Tobin, the police say, Mrs. Cahoon wrecked his home, his wife obtaining a divorce.

For some years, according to the police, Tobey and Mrs. Cahoon worked together, obtaining merchandise from stores through the medium of bad checks. These checks were made out by Tobin, endorsed by Mrs. Cahoon and then passed by her. Tobin is now in the House of Correction.

Coue's Book

SELF MASTERY Through Conscious AUTOSUGGESTION

Only Authorized Book by EMILE COUE

PAGE 31.

THOUGHTS AND PRECEPTS OF EMILE COUE, taken down literally by Mme. Emile LEON, his disciple.

Do not spend your time thinking of illness you might have, for if you have no real ones you will create artificial ones.

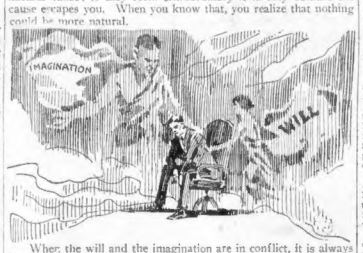
When you make conscious autosuggestion, do it naturally, simply, with conviction and, above all, without any effort.

Be sure that you will obtain what you want, and you will obtain it, so long as it is within reason.

To become master of oneself it is enough to think that one is becoming so. . . . Your hands tremble, your steps falter, tell yourself that all that is going to cease, and little by little it will disappear. It is not in me but in yourself that you must have confidence, for it is in yourself alone that dwells the force which can cure you. My part simply consists in teaching you to make use of that force.

Never discuss things you know nothing about, or you will only make yourself ridiculous.

Things which seem miraculous to you have a perfectly natural cause; if they seem extraordinary it is only because the cause evapes you. When you know that, you realize that nothing could be more natural.



When the will and the imagination are in conflict, it is always the imagination which wins. Such a case is only too frequent, and then not only do we not do what we want, but just the contrary of what we want. For example: the more we try to go to sleep the more we try to remember the name of some one, the more we try to stop laughing, the more we try to avoid an obstacle, while thinking that we cannot do so, the more excited we become, the less we can remember the name, the more uncontrollable our laughter becomes, and the more surely we rush upon the obstacle.

It is then the imagination and not the will which is the most important faculty of man; and thus it is a serious mistake to advise people to train their wills; it is the training of their imaginations which they ought to set about.

GIRL'S TOOTHACHE EXCUSE UNHEEDED

A toothache is no excuse for going to the left of a traffic sign, so Miss Beatrice Paysant of No. 76 Boston avenue, Arlington, was advised today by Judge Stone in the Cambridge District Court. Miss Paysant said she was headed for a dentist in Arlington, and the pain in her tooth was so severe that she didn't wait for traffic. She was fined $10.

FEATURES COMPARED BY JURY

"Grandmother" Declares the Child Doesn't Resemble Son, Who Questions Paternity

London, March 9 (By International News Service).—Gurgling and smiling at the widespread interest he attracted, "Dream Baby" Geoffrey Russell was introduced as an "exhibit" today at the divorce trial of the Hon. John Hugo Russell, son of Lord Ampthill, who questions the paternity of the infant.

Little Geoffrey was taken into a private room to be exhibited to the jury, where his features could be compared with those of John Hugo Russell and those of E. J. Mayer, the correspondent.

Lady Ampthill, who was present, maintained that the baby does not resemble her son, either now or when the son was an infant.

Mayer, prominent London business man, denied, absolutely, that he was ever guilty of misconduct with Mrs. Russell. He testified that while she visited his flat on two occasions, she never took a bath there, and he labelled the testimony of his servants to that effect as absolute lies.

Mayer insisted that Mrs. Russell and he were good friends and nothing more.

Mrs. Russell, continuing her testimony, declared that she bobbed her hair at the end of 1920 and that she never wore hairpins again until the Summer of 1922. Therefore the hairpins found in Mayer's flat, she said, could not have belonged to her.

Mayer said that he was born in America, and was a member of the New York Stock Exchange. He came to England, was naturalized, married in 1907, and had one child. His wife divorced him in 1917.

He described visits to his flat of other young women, one of whom did take a bath there. She is now in South Africa to avoid being called as a witness in the case.

JOY RIDE COSTS YEAR'S SENTENCE

When William J. Goss, of No. 32 Lawrence avenue, Arlington, next feels the itch to joy ride in someone else's car, he will think of a one-year sentence to the Concord Reformatory staring him in the face, Judge Stone in the Cambridge court handed him out the sentence, a suspension, and a lecture when he was arraigned for borrowing the car of Mary Stuart, also of Arlington.

BLONDE GIRL SOUGHT; MRS. BUZZI FREE

New York, March 9.—After being held for ten days in the Bronx Jail as a material witness in the killing of Frederick Schneider, Bronx contractor, Mrs. Anna Buzzi was released in $5,000 in custody of her attorney, James F. Donnelly.

Mrs. Buzzi was extremely nervous as she was brought before Judge Gibbs. She smiled for the first time since her incarceration when Judge Gibbs said:

"Now you may go."

District Attorney Glennon has centered his investigation on what he described as a "mysterious blonde woman." She is said to live in the Glason Point section and to be the mother of three children.

It has been reported, he said, that Schneider had an affair with the young blond one a three-year period which ended nine months ago.

Mr. Glennon declared it is not improbable that if she is found and her relations with Schneider learned, clues to identity of the person who fired the shots that killed Schneider may be ascertained.

After a conference with Mr. Donnelly Mrs. Buzzi authorized him to issue the following statement:

"I am entirely innocent of any connection with the slaying of Frederick Schneider, and I will devote all my time and whatever means I command to assist the authorities in every way to run down the guilty person."

Planes Going at 65 Miles an Hour "Kiss" in Air

New York, March 9 (By International News Service).—At Mitchel Field, near here, two planes, one a Sperry messenger, the other a heavy De Havilland, both going sixty-five miles an hour, "kissed" each other eight times.

Lieutenant Lawrence Sperry, pilot of the smaller plane, carried a wooden pole fastened upright on the top of his ship, while Captain Clyde B. Finton, who maneuvered the De Havilland, swung a twelve-foot metal ladder under his fuselage. At various altitudes, and hampered by a gusty wind, Sperry repeatedly "locked" his pole with the ladder.

Experts, quick to perceive the value of the test, are arranging for others by Lieutenant Sperry, among which will be an attempt to transfer baggage from one plane to another in the air.

ARREST 35 IN "DRY" DRIVE OF PINCHOT

Jonestown, Pa., March 9.—State police acting under orders of Governor Pinchot confiscated large quantities of beer and whiskey, and made wholesale arrests in a series of raids on saloons and hotels here. An hour after the city-wide raid was launched thirty-five saloon proprietors and bartenders were under arrest and 400 gallons of whiskey and 150 barrels of beer seized.

'MERRY' SLAYER IS HUNG AFTER BANQUET

Fort Madison, Ia., March 9 (By International News Service).—The feast of the Merry Murderers" came to an end here today, when the body of Early Throst, slayer of a school teacher, slid through the gallows trap in the Iowa State prison. He died with artificial bravado after playing host at a banquet in the death house to four other killers soon to follow him through the trap door.

Throst criticized the methods of the hanging just before dying. He escorted the warden had placed the noose on his chin, not under it. The warden obligingly adjusted it to suit the murderer.

To the last Throst remained the stoic he had become in the last few weeks. He refused to make any statement. When the Rev. Dr. Erskine appeared Throst said curtly he did not care to accept the church. However, he prayed with the clergyman, commenting that he had complete faith in his salvation.

SCH. PORTLAND SAFE IN TOW OF CUTTER

WIFE KIDNAPS HER CHILDREN, BUT IS CAUGHT

Mother love moved Mrs. Viola Caraber to set out from her home at No. 91 Marcella street, Roxbury, to steal the three children who had been taken from her—a daughter in Melrose and two sons in Billerica.

Aided by her two cousins, the mother succeeded in getting all the kiddies into a taxicab and started back to Roxbury. The party was captured by the police in Woburn square, through telephone messages from Billerica.

The children were returned to the homes where they had been put to board. The mother and her cousins were released.

James Caraber

Mrs. Caraber declared:

"Three years ago my husband, our four children and I lived together at No. 6 Harris avenue, Jamaica Plain. My husband owned a small fruit and grocery store at No. 619 Centre street.

"He had me committed to the Psychopathic Hospital for observation. I was kept there ten days, and when I returned home he would not let me in. I found out that he had taken my children to the City Institutions Department, and that they had been put out to board.

"I am going to get back my children if I have to go to every court in the country!"

New York—Rudolph P. Worth, an assistant cashier of the Guardian Life Insurance Company, shot himself to death shortly after he reported for work today.

BARS COSTLY GIFTS FOR BRIDE OF DUKE

London, March 9.—Portarlshire, seat of the Earl of Strathmore, father of Lady Elizabeth Bowes-Lyon, will present an illuminated address on the occasion of her marriage to the Duke of York. The decision to send this rather than an expensive present was made at a meeting of the people, at which a letter from Lord Strathmore was read urging that because of the hard times a large sum should not be spent.

Thousands of presents have already been received by the Duke and his fiancee, but many have been returned, as it is the custom of the royal family not to accept a gift from anyone not personally known.

ENGLAND AND FRANCE CLASH ON RHINE

Buer, Germany, March 9 (By International News Service).—The Lord Mayor of Buer today was fined 10,000,000 marks by a French military court for refusing to produce gas, coal and light for the French troops. French troops occupied Cronenberg, Munster and at Witten and Hort-Emscher disarmed and expelled the German security police.

By S. D. WEYER.
By International News Service.

Essen, March 9.—The cordial wartime sentiment between the British and French is fast vanishing, according to opinion expressed here today by persons who have just returned from the Cologne bridgehead, where the British have been surrounded by French occupational troops in the past few days.

The British bulldog is holding on, John Bull will not relinquish his grip upon the Cologne bridgehead, no matter how hard the French may try to make him throw up his job in disgust. John Bull is not going home—at least for some time. That is evident.

International News Service, after an investigation, is able to reveal facts which the British newspapers do not dare to publish.

The French and British on the Rhine are at loggerheads. But it would be folly to say that the Anglo-French entente is endangered. This entente may exist for years after the foundation for it has crumbled. There is common cause. France and Great Britain are the two most powerful nations in Europe. They are the only two nations in a position to go to war. To prevent military suicide they must be friends, not enemies. But even being friends they might have their squabbles.

The enmity that exists between the two races is, for the most part, on the part of soldiers. The British officers and men in the military zone are not friendly toward the French and are not averse to showing it.

10 Billion Marks in Ruhr Relief Fund

Berlin, March 9.—The Tageblatt says the Ruhr relief fund now exceeds 10,000,000,000 marks. It is semi-officially stated 2,500,000,000 marks have been received from Austria, Brazil, Argentina, Chile, Mexico and Japan, as well as from the cities of Barcelona, Belgrade and Athens.

The German coal commission informed a Reichstag committee today that the country's coal supply was on the whole satisfactory.

Thanks to large supplies of reparations fuel which were diverted to unoccupied Germany instead of to France and Belgium during the first few weeks of the occupation, and to large importations of British coal last year, the commission said, the railways, public utilities and private consumers were well taken care of.

There has also been an increase in the production of the mines outside the Ruhr.

French Troops Again Evacuate Dortmund

Essen, Germany, March 9. (By the Associated Press.)—The French troops have again been withdrawn from Dortmund, which was occupied yesterday to round up members of the disbanded security police still at large. The city was searched and 270 of the security force were arrested and expelled with a warning not to return.

Physician Leaves Radium Worth $90,000 to Kin

Jersey City, March 9.—Ninety thousand dollars' worth of radium was the rare legacy the late Dr. William F. Faison, cancer specialist, left his four children, as disclosed in the doctor's will, filed here.

The radium, leased by the State of New Jersey for the treatment of poor people, had brought Dr. Falson $15,000 a year.

Newer Form of Iron Is Red Blood Food

If your blood is thin, pale and watery, keeping you weak, nervous and run-down, you need rich, red blood with plenty of iron in it to give you strength, energy and endurance. It would surely astonish you to see how in two short weeks a little more iron in your blood would help renew the electricity, the strength and energy of earlier days. It is the iron in your blood that enables you to get the good out of your food. Without iron, nothing you eat does you any good. Your food simply passes through you and your body is literally starving on three big meals a day.

This newer form of iron known as Nuxated Iron is like the iron in fresh vegetables and like the iron in your blood in concentrated form. It may be had from all druggists with a guarantee of entirely satisfactory results or your money back.

BREAK CHEST COLDS WITH RED PEPPER

Feel Red Pepper Rub loosen a bad cold right up

Ease your tight, aching chest. Stop the pain. Break up the congestion. Feel a bad cold loosen up in just a short time.

"Red Pepper Rub" is the cold remedy that brings quickest relief. It cannot hurt you and it certainly seems to end the tightness and drive the congestion and soreness right out.

Nothing has such concentrated, penetrating heat as red pepper, and when heat penetrates right down into colds, congestion, aching muscles and sore, stiff joints relief comes at once.

The moment you apply Red Pepper Rub you feel the tingling heat in three minutes the congested spot is warmed through and through. When you are suffering from a cold, rheumatism, backache, stiff neck or sore muscles, just get a jar of Rowles Red Pepper Rub, made from red peppers, at any drug store. You will have the quickest relief known. Always say "Rowles."

For Freckled, Rough or Muddy Complexions
Nothing Equals Mercolized Wax

The freckling, discoloring or roughening to which delicate skins are subject after exposure to wind or sun, often appearing in spring, may readily be gotten rid of. Mercolized Wax, spread lightly over the face before retiring, removed in the morning with soap and water, completely peels off the discolored skin. Get an ounce of the wax at any druggist's. There's no more effective way of banishing freckles or other cutaneous defects. Little skin particles come off each day, so the process doesn't even temporarily mar the complexion, and one soon acquires a brand new spotless, girlishly beautiful face.

FIRE DESTROYS KENNETH SHOE PLANT IN LYNN

Fire of unknown origin today destroyed the Kenneth Shoe Company factory, No. 100 Magnolia avenue, Lynn, causing a loss of approximately $30,000. Flames bursting from the upper story attracted the attention of Thomas Glynn, a superintendent of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway, who sounded an alarm.

Stork Calls on Mother in Midst of Auto Crash

Detroit, March 9.—Mrs. John Cairns of this city was being driven to a local hospital in an automobile to keep an engagement with the stork. Her automobile collided with another car and in the midst of the wreckage the stork announced himself.

Dr. Thomas Starrs was in the other car. After being helped out of the debris, he attended Mrs. Cairns and both mother and baby were reported doing well on arrival at the hospital.

CHARGE PUPILS TRIED TO BURN HIGH SCHOOL

Lewiston, Pa., March 9.—High school seniors have been summoned before school and police authorities for questioning in connection with an alleged attempt to burn the local high school building in an effort to delay examinations.

Sulphur candles were discovered in waste paper baskets in fourteen rooms and in each instance had resulted in a small blaze. Examinations at the high school were to have been held yesterday. The building was recently completed at a cost of $200,000.

LADY NANCY ASTOR'S "DRY" BILL HAS WON IN ENGLAND

PASSES IN COMMONS, 338 TO 56

Remarkable Victory for American-Born Peeress to Prohibit Drink for Youth

London, March 9.—(By International News Service)—Lady Astor's bill, prohibiting the sale of intoxicants to persons under eighteen, passed on second reading in the House of Commons this afternoon despite a storm of criticism and ridicule.

The vote was 338 to 56, which represented a most remarkable victory for the American born peeress.

The prohibition bill produced a flood of ironic debate.

Sir Guy Granecharacterized the "cheap American prohibition goods foisted upon an unsuspecting community."

Lady Astor.

"HUMBUG", SAYS FOE OF BILL.

"I hope this prohibition is never seen in England, said W. A. Jenks. "It is productive of nothing but hypocrisy, deceit and humbug, as can be seen by the United States."

Lady Astor made an eloquent appeal in behalf of British women and children. She denounced the liquor interests, charging they had a corrupt organization in the House of Commons.

She declared owners of breweries and distilleries were responsible for much of the suffering among the women of the poorer class.

WITTY IN SPEECH.

London, March 9. (By the Associated Press).—Lady Astor, opening the second reading of her bill prohibiting the sale of intoxicants to youths under eighteen for consumption on the premises, delivered an address replete with witticisms.

It was always usual, she pointed out, to sell liquor to those under fourteen, and her bill merely changed the age limit, because it was generally recognized persons were still youths at eighteen.

"A boy is a child up to eighteen," Lady Astor declared. "You only see children, and we women love you because you are children."

Regarding the suggestion that the Act should apply to only one sex, Lady Astor declared sex discrimination in this respect should not be tolerated. She wanted "To give the spirit and not the spirits a chance."

POINTS TO DOMINIONS.

A great deal was heard about what America had done, remarked Lady Astor, but one never hears much about the Dominions, all of which had such resources as they. If they could do this, England could not to lag behind. There also were similar measures in Sweden, Norway and Poland and, she thought, in France.

Walter Greaves-Lord moved the rejection of the bill, declaring it was merely an entering wedge for absolute prohibition.

Colonel Martin Archer-Shee, Conservative, declared he heard the movement was largely supported by American money. This brought murmurs of dissent from the House.

15 SLEEPING SICKNESS CASES IN NEW YORK

New York, March 9.—The prevalence of sleeping sickness, with fifteen new cases reported today, has not alarmed the Department of Health, declared Dr. Louis I. Harris, director of the Bureau of Preventable Diseases. Deaths decreased from four to two.

SULPHUR SOOTHES AN IRRITATED SKIN

First Application of Men-ho-Sulphur Makes Skin Smooth and Comfortable

If you are suffering from eczema or some other torturing, embarrassing skin trouble you can quickly be rid of it by using Mentho-Sulphur declares a noted skin specialist.

This sulphur preparation, because of its germ destroying properties, seldom fails to quickly subdue itching, even of the worst eczema. The first application makes the skin cool and comfortable. Rash and blotches are healed right up. Rowles Mentho-Sulphur is applied like any pleasant cold cream and is perfectly harmless. You can obtain a small jar from any good druggist.

Bright Spots in Shadowland

Madge Bellamy

MADGE BELLAMY, known as one of the "twelve most beautiful women in America," has been signed for a three year contract with Thomas H. Ince to appear in a series of special productions in which youth, beauty and proven dramatic ability, Ince evidently believes that the lovely "dream child," whom he discovered two years ago when she was posing with William Gillette in "Dear Brutus," is destined for highest stardom. More screen stars have been "made" on the Ince lot than by any other producer.

UNIQUE VILLAIN

"CORDELIA THE MAGNIFICENT," Clara Kimball Young's new vehicle, is an unusual photoplay in that the villain of the piece isn't spotted immediately and pigeonholed. He might be any one of three men—and it isn't till quite late in the story that the secret is divulged. Even "Is it wise thus to keep the public in doubt?" Miss Young asked George Archambaud, the director.

"This is no ordinary villain," said Mr. Archambaud. "He should have the stamp of Cain upon his brow rather than a rubber stamp, shudder. How here."

MODERN CLEOPATRA

NITA NALDI, vamp of a number of recent well known Paramount pictures, is going to see a kind of modern Cleopatra in "Lawful Larceny," which Allan Dwan is now preparing for production at the Paramount Long Island studio. Leading men designers of New York are at work on gowns of Egyptian design for her that would have made the women of Tut-Ankh-Amen's court green with jealousy. In this role Miss Naldi will be world apart of the fashion trend of the day.

"Miss Naldi is Cleopatra reincarnated," says Mr. Dwan. "Many leading artists have said that she is the nearest in type to the famous Egyptian to be found in America."

Studio Notes

Cyril Ring, who played an important part with Thomas Meighan in "Back Home and Broke," has been added to the cast of "The Exciters," the Paramount picture which Richard Ordynski has just begun at the Long Island Studio.

Lloyd Hamilton has loaned his leading lady, Ruth Hiatt, to the Jack White Mermaid organization during the filming of "Uneasy Feet," in which only two principal characters—Hamilton and Ruth—appear. It is possible that Miss Hiatt will make two pictures under the Mermaid banner.

* * *

Bert Lytell's sudden fling in vaudeville was taken at the behest of Sol Lesser, the prominent screen producer-manager. Lytell is in the two-a-day now to fill out a between-pictures period.

HALT FIRING OF HOME OF SISTER OF COLLINS

Cork, March 9 (By International News Service).—Free State troops today frustrated an attempt to burn the home of Mrs. John Powell, sister of the late Michael Collins. One of the rebels was captured in a fight near the home of Miss Duggan, a leader of the Free State women. Republicans were trying to burn her home.

Mary MacSwiney, leader of the belligerents among the Irish Republican women, declared today that the majority of the Republicans would continue to fight despite talk of peace. She said that the overtures made by Richard Barry constituted an individual move and did not indicate the Republicans to give up their arms.

A heavy battle was reported from Kilmeeny today. The casualties were understood to be heavy.

REFUSES TO BACK DOWN ON CONSULS

Washington, Mar. 10.—The United States government has left it square up to Great Britain to decide whether the American consulate at Newcastle-on-Tyne is to be opened at once or closed indefinitely.

The investigation ordered by Secretary Hughes revealed, according to his notes to Lord Curzon, that the evidence produced against Consuls Slater and Brooks was not sufficient to prove them guilty of the Britis charges. The United States is unwilling, according to Hughes, to oppose the consulate until Great Britain publicly exonerates Slater and Brooks.

REVOLT SPREADS IN SOUTHERN BRAZIL

By the Associated Press.

Montevideo, March 9.—The revolutionary movement in Rio Grande do Sul, southernmost state of Brazil, has been extended, according to dispatches from Rivera. Uprisings have occurred in all border townships, with numerous casualties.

The rebel chief, Colonel Fortunho is reported to have entered Rio Grande from the state of Santa Catharina with 2,000 men and to have engaged government forces in several fights in which many were killed or wounded.

"Izzy" and "Moe" Buy Apples and Get Windfall

New York, March 9.—On their way to work today, "Izzy" Einstein and "Moe" Smith, New York's best known prohibition enforcement agents, stopped at a Park Row fruit stand to buy some apples.

A truckman tapped "Izzy" on the shoulder, saying: "Are youse de guys I was to give de booze to?"

"Sure," replied the quick-witted Einstein, "bring it right in here," and he pointed to the lobby of the Pulitzer Building.

The truckman unloaded two cases, one of whisky, one of rum, carried them into the lobby, dusted his hands and smiled.

The smile wore off as he was marched before United States Commissioner Hitchcock and charged with illegally transporting liquor.

50 AUTOS BURN IN MAINE FIRE

Dexter, Me., March 8.—The garage of the Blaisdell Automobile Co., and between fifty and seventy-five automobiles were burned today.

An adjoining building and about fifty other cars were saved. The loss was estimated at $75,000.

A feature of the fire was the blowing of horns and the starting of motors in cars from which batteries had not been removed. These were set in action by short-circuits caused by water.

A number of fire men were overcome by smoke.

SENTENCE MOTHER AND SON IN RUM CASE

Mother and son were arraigned in municipal court today charged with keeping and selling liquor. The defendants, Mrs. Harry Burnstein and her 18-year-old son Harry, of No. 92 Auburn street, Chelsea, pleaded guilty to selling five gallons of alcohol to a policeman for $25. It being their first offence, they were placed on probation on suspended sentences of six months each.

NURSE KIDNAPS JUDGE'S 3-YEAR-OLD CHILD

Albany, N. Y., March 9.—No trace of Leopold Minkin, three-year-old son of City Judge Leopold Minkin, who disappeared with a newly engaged nurse maid, had been found today.

The police and the child's parents were unable to furnish a motive for the supposed kidnaping. Judge Minkin is not wealthy, and so far as known he had no enemies.

The maid, who gave her name as Mary Conklin, started work in the Minkin household yesterday. In the afternoon, Mrs. Minkin went to the nurse's house, about five blocks from her own home. Later she received a telephone call from the new maid who said sh and the boy would join Mrs. Minkin in a few moments.

A little later the child was seen with a young woman on a car bound for the railroad station. A ticket seller said a young woman with a child boarded a ticket for New York in the afternoon.

Saranac Lake, N. Y.—A drop in temperature to 28 degrees below zero made last night one of the coldest on record for March in the northern Adirondack region.

HOLD GIRL FOR HACKING MAN WITH AXE

Lakewood, N. J., March 9.—Miss Helen Bond, twenty-two years old, of Newark, a cook, employed in a contractor's roadhouse for laborers at Jackson's Mills, is held in the Ocean County jail, Tom's River, today in $1,000 bail for an attack with an axe on John Richardson, twenty-two of Wrightstown, N. J.

Miss Bond, according to the police, slashed Richardson when he attempted to attack Ruth Davis, 14, a friend that came to visit her.

Richardson, who was removed to a Lakewood hospital, was severely cut on the back and the right foot and is reported in a serious condition.

SEIZES NEW YORKERS AS PICKPOCKETS

Inspector Joseph Rollins of headquarters today arrested Harry Wilson and Albert Davis, both of New York, following complaint of a woman who said $20 had been taken from her purse. At headquarters the police say, it was found the two men had records in New York. They were held as suspicious persons pending an investigation.

CLUB TO STAGE IMPROPER PLAY SUNDAY NIGHT

New York, March 9—The Green room Club announced today that it planned to present Arthur Schnitzler's "Reigen" at the Belasco Theatre Sunday night, despite the decision of Otto H. Kahn, scheduled as the guest of honor, not to attend the play, which has been termed improper by John S. Sumner, secretary of the Society for the Suppression of Vice.

Harry L. Reichenbach, a director of the club, announced that the club was seeking an injunction to prevent the police from interfering with the production and that he would ask District Attorney Banton to act against Sumner on the charge that he had criminally libelled the club.

New York's reading is to be censored unofficially by the Clean Books League.

Representatives of several civic and welfare organizations formed the organization at the request of Supreme Court Justice John Ford, who recently publicly charged that many books on metropolitan book store shelves were immoral.

The organization empowered Justice Ford to appoint a committee to read dubious and suspected books and report their impressions to the public.

GIRL IS BADLY BURNED IN BED

Elizabeth Salvo, 5 years old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Salvo of No. 163 Endicott street, North End, was severely burned about the face, neck and chest today while asleep in her bed.

Ralph Morandi, who lives at No. 7 Cross Street Place, heard the child's screams and ran into the house, finding her room ablaze. He rescued the little girl and rushed her to the Haymarket Square Police Station, where she was placed on the danger list.

HOTEL PROPRIETOR SHOT BY HIS WIFE

Cleveland, March 9 (By International News Service)—Mrs. Minnie Redwine, thirty-five, is booked on a charge of shooting to kill, while her husband, Gilbert D. Redwine, forty-five, proprietor of the Lindell Hotel, is dying, following his shooting in the hotel early today. Mrs. Redwine, police say, admitted that she had fired the shots.

"I had to do it," she was quoted as saying. "Gilbert came home drunk and broke into my bedroom. He struck me without saying a word and when I tried to argue with him he hit me again and again. I ran to a table, pulled the revolver from the drawer and fired."

WOMAN HURT AS CAR BREAKS APART

One woman was slightly injured, traffic through Central Square, Cambridge, was tied up for more than an hour today, when an articulated Watertown-Arsenal street car broke apart at Western and Massachusetts avenues.

The victim, Margaret Herne, 40 years old, of No. 44 East Canton street, South End, dropped through a hole torn in the rear section of the car when its truck was ripped off.

Although she claimed injury to an elbow, the woman did not attempt to obtain treatment in any of the many adjacent drugstores and continued on her way to Watertown.

The car, in charge of Conductor Nicholas Sullivan and Motorman J. Lafferty, was outward bound, preceding slowly through Central Square. The first section took the switch and swung to the left on Western avenue without incident. For some unexplained reason the forward truck of the rear section continued straight ahead along Massachusetts avenue in the direction of Harvard square.

Kidnap and Flog Man Over Girl

Rochester, N. Y., March 9.—Police today are seeking the assailants of Roy Ribson, twenty-three, who while visiting at the home of a friend, was called to the door, seized, handcuffed and spirited away to his own home, where he was flogged in an attempt, he said, to extort from him a confession of his relationship with a girl.

After the beating, the men rubbed cold and warned him to return to Williamsport, Pa., his former home. He said that he did not know the girl.

The assailants were deputy sheriff badges.

DAUGHERTY MUCH IMPROVED TODAY

Miami, Fla., March 9.—The condition of Harry M. Daugherty, United States Attorney-General, was reported very much improved today, the fourth day of his vacation here, after a severe illness. He came South with President Harding and Mrs. Harding, leaving the party at Daytona. He was accompanied here by Dr. J. T. Boone and a nurse.

PROBE MARCINO OPERATIONS IN BUFFALO

Buffalo, N. Y., March 9—A grand jury today began an investigation into the wrecking of the Niagara Life Insurance Company by Joseph M. Marcino, fugitive banker, and his associates.

Witnesses were here from Philadelphia to testify as to the transfer of the funds of the insurance company to Marcino's bank there.

The investigation was started at the request of the State Insurance Department, following the looting of the Warren, Mass., First National Bank, whose six-day president, Frank L. Taylor, is under arrest in Chicago.

FEAR SEINE FLOOD WILL INCREASE

Paris, March 9 (By International News Service)—While the Seine River fell during the night, there was further rain today which might increase the flood. The river commission has warned residents of low-lying districts to be prepared.

MILLIONAIRE HELD AS WHITE SLAVER

Washington, March 9. (By International News Service)—Patrick J. Clifford, a millionaire of Scranton, Pa., was arrested today on a charge of white slavery preferred by Bessie L. Brennan, twenty-four years old, of Pittsburgh, a resident of the Salvation Army Homes for Girls. She told the police Clifford took her in his automobile into Maryland and attacked her at the point of a gun. Clifford was released under $5,000 bond.

STANLEY FIELD GETS DIVORCE FOR DESERTION

Chicago, March 9.—Stanley Field, head of the Field Museum of Chicago and a nephew of the late Marshall Field, will be granted a divorce from Sara Carroll Field on the ground of desertion, Judge Ira Byron, before whom the case has been heard, announced today that he will grant Mrs. Field's petition for a divorce, but did not say in the decree when it would be issued. The Fields were married here in 1905. Testimony has been introduced to show that Mrs. Field awaited her husband in January, 1920, and has even since refused to return to her husband. The only son was received his home since he left it more year ago was on the occasion of the marriage of their eldest daughter to Thomas W. Ballard, and the denial of their youngest daughter.

Harvard Junior Prom Tonight to Attract Younger Set, Says Betty Alden

By BETTY ALDEN.

NOT that the debbies are languishing from lack of social action exactly. But still, Harvard's annual junior "prom" comes a bit like the well-known silver lining in social skies which have been just a trifle darkened for a while.

So many of the powder puff-wielding members of the younger set are donning their prettiest satins and chiffons for the affair, which takes place tonight at Memorial Hall. In previous years this annual event has taken place in Union Hall, but this time there have been so many applications that a large hall was necessary.

Not only do many of the season's buds attend the "prom," but quite a few of the girls who have been out a year or more.

Harrison Gardner is chairman of the committee, which includes also James Jackson Lee, Charles B. Barnes, Jr., Morgan H. Harris, Richard G. Norris and Robert P. Bullard, all of Boston, as well as a few men from other States.

ADDED to the long list of nuptial events scheduled for June, is the marriage of Miss Marie Thayer and Junius A. Richards, both of New York. Mr. Richards, a Harvard '15 man, is the son of Mrs. Charles Frost Aldrich and the late Francis Richards of Boston. Mrs. Aldrich, who has been making her home in the Hub until last Winter, is now living in New York at No. 157 East Eighty-first street, in order to be near her son, whose business interests are now in that city. Last June her daughter, Miss Lillian Aldrich, was married to John Gordon Winchester of New York at Emmanuel Church.

Miss Thayer is the daugater of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin B. Thayer of No. 46 East Seventy-ninth street, where the wedding is to be solemnized on June 2.

MR. AND MRS. ARTHUR PERRY and Miss Penelope Perry have joined the Boston colony at Camden, S. C., where they are stopping at the Court Inn.

THE Charles Amorys and the Reginald Boardmans of Boston were among the prominent society folk at Palm Beach who attended the prize fight held at the opening night of the Seminole San dance in the arena of the American Legion at West Palm Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Gurnee Munn—Mr. Munn is the brother of Mrs. Amory and Mrs. Boardman—gave a dinner that evening at their villa, following which Miss Irene Bordoni entertained the guests with some songs.

Mr. and Mrs. Amory, by the way, have as guests at their cottage Jesse Hoyt of New York, who is to make a visit of several weeks.

MRS. HELEN DRAPER TAFT and her brother, Wickliffe P. Draper, have joined the Boston contingent at Bermuda. They are stopping at the Hamilton Hotel, where they plan to remain for several weeks, I believe.

A WEEK from tonight comes the mid-Winter costume dance of the Harvard Hasty Pudding Club, to which many of the "social register" men belong. Bernard S. Cogan and James J. Reynolds are in charge of the affair.

HUB MEN TO FACE "LIE DETECTOR"

Two residents of Greater Boston have been subpoenaed by United States deputy marshals to appear as witnesses in Washington next Monday at the hearing in the case of William Marston, inventor of the "lie detector," under arrest there on the charge of using the mails to defraud.

The local men, W. L. Marston, brother of the inventor, and Captain A. A. Lowe, of No. 132 Grant avenue, Medford, and George E. Densmore of No. 42 Hyslop road, Brookline. Captain Lowe was a member of the war claims board.

TODAY

pro-perity would not be 20 per cent of what it is.

THE GLOOMY economical fight between France and Germany, France spoiling to get money and raw products by force, Germany offering passive resistance, is enlivened by a comic opera war in the air.

Germans send out from the Lorenz radio broadcasting station musical concerts that reach all Germany and some other countries, including Switzerland. The high-power radio station at the top of the Eiffel Tower in Paris listens carefully, under censorship, to the German concert. If German songs sent out appear to be intended to arouse sympathy for Germany, the Eiffel Tower immediately tunes into the Lorenz station and sends out a highly patriotic French concert of its own. The two radio concerts kill each other off and the unfortunate subscribers hear nothing.

GIRL WITH 114.2 TEMPERATURE UNWORRIED

By Universal Service.

Escanaba, Mich., March 9.—Evelyn Evans, whose normal temperature has soared above the markings of clinical thermometers, insists today that she is recovering.

Her condition—that of a normal girl in conversation, movements and thoughts—was unchanged. Her temperature, though recording 114.2 degrees, had not affected her appetite today.

"If they would only quit thinking of me as a freak," is her one worry.

"I don't intend to die just because I have a temperature. I am going to get well in a week, although everyone thinks I should have been dead weeks ago.

"Watch me. Doctors are wonderful, but I will have to show them that they do not know everything."

Dr. H. J. Defnet, her physician, readily admits that he is baffled at the girl's condition. He has invited specialists to investigate the causes and effects of the fever that is burning but not consuming the body of the girl. Dr. Max Thorek and a staff of physicians from Chicago hospitals are to arrive here today to observe the case, Dr. Defnet was informed.

MRS. DOUCETTE LOSES SUIT; DOCTOR WINS

Mrs. Dorothy Doucette of Newton, today lost her suit for $25,000 in Cambridge Superior Court against Dr. Richard Collins, surgeon at the Waltham Hospital. Mrs. Doucette charged her husband, John J. Doucette, died while a patient at the hospital because of the professional neglect of Dr. Collins. When it was shown that Doucette had given ice cream to the nurses, Mrs. Doucette averred that it was because he liked the nurses and not because he was satisfied with the treatment he was getting.

HARDING LAUDS PLAN FOR HISTORY STUDY

Brunswick, Me., March 9.—President Harding advocates a study of history from the international, instead of the national, point of view in a letter congratulating President Hills of Bowdoin College for the proposed Institute of Modern History to be held from April 19 to May 1.

"There has been too much disposition to deal with the different nations in separate compartments," he wrote. "Our point of view of modern history has been shifted greatly by the events of the last decade. It is peculiarly necessary in times like these that every effort be made to correct whatever misapprehension that have arisen."

BROCKTON WOMAN TO DROP DIVORCE IF FINNEY REPENTS

READY TO FORGIVE HUSBAND

Blames Lynn Divorcee for Her Troubles; Says Mate Became Sport

Brockton, March 9.—"Although I have brought suit for divorce against my husband, Gilbert R. Finney, I would willingly withdraw the proceedings and return to live with him if he came to me and said he was genuinely repentant for all the suffering h. has caused me."

This unusual statement was made to a Boston American reporter by Mrs. Etta M. (Ford) Finney, who is seeking freedom on the grounds of desertion, cruel and abusive treatment and non-support.

Mrs. Finney, a comely matron of forty-three years, blames a Lynn divorcee for her troubles. "My husband and I were ideally happy during the first ten years of our four teen years of married life," she said. "Then, about three years ago, he met this Lynn divorcee, a woman several years older than himself. Her mother, a Brockton woman, introduced us to her.

"He spent many week-ends with the Lynn woman and I learned that he also paid her hotel bill when she was on vacation two years ago. At the same time I was working in his sock factory, without compensation, to help him out financially. Later I learned that he was charging up my services and withdrawing the money which he turned over to his friend from Lynn.

BECAME SPORT.

"I also learned that he made several attempts to make 'dates' with young girls who worked at his factory.

"From a steady, quiet, home-loving husband he changed suddenly into a sport. He would come home and say: 'I've been tied down long enough; I'm going to have a good time.' He began to wear sporty clothes, but he neglected me so that I nearly had nervous prostration. He finally got so that only 'kids of fifteen and sixteen years of age interested him.

"In July, 1921, he told me that our expenses were as high he wanted to break up housekeeping and have me go to visit relatives for the Summer. Our furniture was stored and he kept putting me off every time I desired to return to Brockton. I finally returned in October and although I had seen him but once in three months he greeted me at the railroad station by saying I looked like a 'bum.'

"He was living at the Y. M. C. A. at the time and insisted that I take a room at the Y. W. C. A. He refused to hire a room and let me live with him, but he continued to attend the Porter Congregational Church and sing in the choir. He even purchased music for the choir, but he couldn't find money to support me. He told me that the reason he didn't want to live with me was because he had ceased to love me.

"Since then I have supported myself by working in a shoe factory and as housekeeper in Somerville and Brockto

Girl Bandit's Victim

EDWARD JOHNSON.

Search for the "Flapper Felons," a pretty, young, bobbed-hair girl, and her young male pal, is being conducted by police of Greater Boston on descriptions furnished by Manager Edward Johnson of the Cloverdale Creamry at No. 375 Dudley street, Roxbury. The pair held Johnson up at revolver point and escaped with $200 from the till. The girl then left the creamery and waited for her escort at the wheel of an automobile. They sped away safely.

WILD TAXICAB RIDE NO JCKE TO COBB

New York, March 9.—Irvin Cobb has considerable reputation as a humorist, but he couldn't see any joke when a reckless taxicab driver gave him a wild ride from 47th street and Sixth avenue to his home at No. 520 Park avenue. Several times he asked the driver to slow up, but the cab continued to careen as Cobb visioned death and disaster in the thick traffic. Cobb related his ordeal to the proper authorities and the driver, Albert J. Klinbecker of Corona, L. I., was sentenced to fifteen days in the workhouse for reckless driving and refusing to show his license badge.

SERVICE CHARGE STANDS; PAY IT AND GRIN!

Grin and bear it!

Pay the "service charge" and look happy!

This is the answer made today to the people of Medford, Melrose, Malden, Everett, Revere and Winthrop by the Legislative Committee on Power and Light.

Thousands of these suburban consumers pay a service charge of thirty-five cents a month to the gas and electric corporations.

Any consumer who has both gas and electric meters has to pay seventy cents.

Alderman Charles A. Coughlin of Medford filed a bill to repeal the charge.

Representatives from all communities concerned appeared before the committee and protested the service charge as a "licensed robbery."

Some of the committeemen said the right to grant or repeal a service charge is vested in the State Department of Public Utilities.

Alderman Coughlin said the department has abused that right, at the expense of the people. A new fight on the bill is planned.

The members of the committee are:

Senators Stoddart of Gloucester, Hallisell of New Bedford, Look of Fisbury and O'Hearn of Pittsfield, and Representatives Doyle of New Bedford, Brooks of Worcester, Lewis of Somerville, Daw of Methuen, Donahue of Newburyport, O'Brien of Plymouth, Ashley of Deerfield, Mitchell of Springfield, Staples of Pittsfield, James W. Hayes of Boston and Kelly of Holyoke.

RETURNS HERE AFTER RARE OPERATION

Council Bluffs, Iowa, March 9.—Carl Goodnow, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred E. Goodnow of South Braintree, Mass., has returned home following a remarkable operation on his brain at a local hospital, in which Dr. Harry D. Kelly lifted a small bone which had pressed on the boy's brain for two years. The operation, physicians declared, removed the cause of the boy's lapses of memory and periodical attacks of mental derangement. It was during one of his attacks that young Goodnow left home and wandered about in eighteen States.

VAULT VICTIM FIGHTS FOR LIFE IN HOSPITAL

Paterson, N. J., March 9.—Snatched from the brink of death, Charles Di Giacoma, nineteen, was breathing laboriously on a hospital cot today.

Accidentally locked in an invulnerable concrete and steel vault by his pal, William Templeton, a fellow-worker in the People's Park Bank, Di Giacoma was rescued after five hours of feverish, unceasing toil by relays of men who battered, burned and drilled their way to him while tense thousands waited breathlessly outside for word of his fate.

The accident is the familiar story of the jolly jokers who toy with fate.

As was their custom Di Giacoma and Templeton had been filling the books of the bank in the vault.

Finishing first Templeton called: "I'm going to lock you in." He grabbed the heavy door and slightly pushed it. He was horrified to see it slip silently into the panel and lock with a smooth quietness that chilled his blood. Firemen, burners with acetylene torches and physicians worked feverishly.

After powerful blows that shattered the concrete, workers made a hole in the steel with an electric drill and a hose through which oxygen flowed was thrust into the cell. A sheet went up from those outside.

With almost superhuman effort a hole a foot square finally was made in the vault roof and Dr. Newman of the hospital was lowered inside with a rope.

After administering first aid he turned to the doors and they yawned, regretfully, it seemed, to the anxious folk outside. Di Giacoma was rushed to the hospital through streets police had stood for hours to have cleared.

TOBACCO SMOULDERS IN SMYRNA'S RUINS

Smyrna, March 9 (By Associated Press).—Although more than five months have elapsed since Smyrna was laid waste by fire, not a single brick has been restored.

From the ashes fumes from the fire-swept warehouses of the American tobacco companies. Millions of pounds of the finest Turkish tobacco destined for the American market lie two floors deep in these storehouses, forming a smouldering furnace that gives off a peculiarly pungent odor.

Months of rain and the combined efforts of the Turkish and foreign firefighters have failed to extinguish the smoking mass of soddened leaf.

Harvey Asks Too Much, Declares British Paper

By the Associated Press.

Manchester, Eng., March 9.—The Manchester Guardian, commenting on the Earl of Balfour's address yesterday, says:

"It seems unfortunate the American ambassador should have challenged the British government to withdraw a certain passage in the Balfour note.

"Our debt to America has been definitely arranged on terms which probably do not satisfy one party more than the other.

"Since we have agreed as to the terms it should be sufficient that we recognize their legality. But Ambassador Harvey asks for more."

FIND GERMANS IN BELGIAN PLOT

Brussels, March 9 (By Associated Press)—Examination of the 46 Belgian Communists arrested yesterday has shown the party in this country has been receiving months considerable sums of money from Germany, the public prosecutor said today. He added that the evidence indicated the Communists in Belgium have been acting in accord with the German organization in fomenting strikes here.

The authorities seized important correspondence. Those taken into custody will be prosecuted on charges of plotting against the safety of the state.

VALENTINO NOW REAL MATE OF RICH GIRL

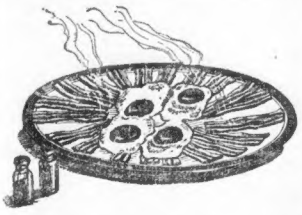
Rodolph Valentino, the Italo-American sheik of the film Saharas, and Winifred Hudnut, foster daughter of the perfume millionaire of that name, today became legally man and wife. Their Mexican marriage of four months ago had a taint of illegality which today's ceremony is expected to make as sweet as one of Foster Papa Hudnut's daintiest perfumes.

The ceremony was to have taken place four days ago, but Sheik Valentino, made cautious by much experience with the courts, took one more look at the decree of divorce from the first Mrs. Valentino and found that in his eagerness this had antedated the day the decree becomes final by that many days.

So another delay was caused. The four days have passed, however, and now Winifred Hurdnut is the legal wife of the flapper's idol, with an iron-clad contract that will entitle her to unlimited alimony if the romance flivvers with the lapse of time.

Meanwhile the former Mrs. Valentino, nee Acker, is touring the country in vaudeville, billed as Mrs. Rodolph Valentino. Nor is this the only trouble that the silver sheet sheik is having with his adopted name. His brother has also taken the name of Valentino, which is not the one their parents gave to the parish padre when the christening took place, but very unlike it.

Rodolph is fighting in the courts for the exclusive right to the name for theatrical and screen purposes claiming that it was his own invention and that his ex-wife and brother are capitalizing it for their own purposes.



Do You Know Good Bacon?

Just as some people don't know good style or good art, other people don't know good bacon. The delicious, rich flavor you get in old-fashioned full-cured Ferris Bacon doesn't mean anything to them.

But if you do know good bacon—if you really have an appreciation for fine flavor—you will enjoy Ferris Bacon just as epicures have enjoyed it for the past sixty years.

Order some tomorrow, and serve it in any combination you wish. It's delicious anyway.

CHARGE WOMAN PLAYED JAZZ TUNES AS HER HUSBAND DIEI

TWO ON TRIAL IN WHOLESALE MURDER CONSPIRACY

Chicago, March 9.—Weird prophecies of death, changed to a jazz tune, crude jests in the face of a dying man, were bared in the trial of Mrs. Tillie Klimek, Chicago's "Woman Bluebeard."

Two women, alone as death itself, within the shadow of the coffin yet and she playing hardly aware, it seems, of the drama in which they play leading roles.

A score of bodies had been exhumed, years after, lured to bear up evidence of a wholesale poison plot against Tillie Klimek and Nellie Koulik, cousins, and alleged arch-conspirators.

The older woman, the central figure in today's trial, is Tillie Klimek. She wags her head in denial as witnesses tell of the grotesque "wake" she conducted for her third husband.

"He was hardly dead when Tillie turned on a jazz record for a funeral march," Mrs. Florence Boring, a neighbor, testified.

"The undertaker hadn't put him in the coffin yet and she was playing on the phonograph.

A week before he died the witness recalls, Mrs. Klimek clipped an undertaker's advertisement from the paper. It read: "Caskets, $50."

SHOWED THE COFFIN.

"She waved it in my face and laughed," the witness recounted.

"That is what we'll get Frank in." Then she showed the picture of the coffin to her husband. "Here's what you're going to be in."

She stopped moving on for nineteen days after.

"I'm going to wear that to your funeral," Mrs. Klimek called to the dying man, Mrs. Boring declared.

"On the day he died he was propped high up on the pillows. Some one said, 'Take the pillows away and he'll die quicker.'

"So she took the pillows away and in a few minutes later Frank was dead."

Then came the grotesque wake with its jazz tunes for a funeral march.

BELIEVE BALFOUR INCIDENT CLOSED

London March 9 (By the Associated Press)—Earl Balfour's defence of his note concerning war debts may be the final curtain in the wrangle, if the hopes of the British Government are realized.

It is emphasized Lord Balfour spoke entirely on his own behalf but Foreign Secretary Curzon was on hand to contradict any statements unacceptable to the Government.

The fact that Curzon left and that the session was adjourned as soon as Balfour's speech was finished is taken as an indication the Government was satisfied with his outline.

Believed Alive

PRINCE ALEXIS.

Alexis Romanoff, heir to the Russian throne, and thought to have been executed with the Czar and Czarina, is now reported to have entered Poland with a party of Russian refugees.

CAPT. GOUGH ASKS DIVORCE IN LONDON

Paris, March 9.—"Yes, we are getting divorced. I have been begging him to divorce me for we have not lived together for a long time. My husband's lawyers telephoned me, but I have not been served with any papers," said Mrs. Sylvia Phyllis Cawston Gough, wife of Captain Wilfred H. J. Gough, Hussar officer, who is suing for divorce in London, names Baron Maurice De Rothschild, Augustin John, noted portrait painter, and Bertrand Neidecker.

REPORT POLAND HARBORS YOUNG CZAREVITCH

By ISAAC DON LEVINE, Universal Service Staff Correspondent.

Warsaw, March 9.—The Czarevitch Alexis Romanoff, supposed to have been executed with the Czar and Czarina at Ekaterinburg four years ago, is now reported to have crossed into Poland with a party of refugees from Russia.

Sensational stories about the arrival of the heir to the Czar's throne caused an investigation which brought out the fact that a nineteen-year-old youth, bearing a striking resemblance to the former Czarevitch, had actually arrived last week from Russia.

People who knew the former Czarevitch personally, after facing the new arrival, are reported to have been dumbfounded by the resemblance.

Country folk from all over the frontier provinces rushed to see the supposed heir apparent. On account of the tremendous interest manifested in the case, the youth is being brought to Warsaw.

The boy denies that he is of Romanoff origin, declaring himself the son of a Russian colonel. Since the Czar held the rank of colonel and always preferred to be called "Colonel" by his intimates, and also on account of the strong likeness many believe that the strange youth is actually the Czarevitch purposely disguising himself and using another name.

ABRUZZI SENTENCED FOR NON-SUPPORT

Thomas Abruzzi, 33 years old, of No. 75 Davis street, Revere, was arraigned in Chelsea District Court today on a charge of non-support of his wife and three minor children. He was arrested on a warrant on Feb. 15, and was put on probation. Failing to comply with the terms of his probation he was brought into court by Frederick W. Proctor Jr., probation officer. Judge Stearns sentenced him to three months in the house of correction and suspended the sentence to give him another chance.

STAR WITNESS HEARD IN KLAN DEATH PROBE

Bastrop, La., March 9.—Harold Teegerstrom, twenty, timekeeper at the plant of the Southern Carbon Company at Sryker, an important witness in the investigation into masked band activities in Morehouse Parish, appeared before the grand jury today.

Teegerstrom disappeared from the carbon plant a day before the opening hearing started here January 3 and remained away until after its close.

As timekeeper he was sought by the State to testify at the hearing in connection with the charge of murder against T. Jeff Burnett, a former deputy sheriff.

During the hearing several witnesses identified Burnett as one of the masked band which kidnaped Watt Daniel and T. F. Richard on the night of August 24, when they were killed.

THREATEN LIFE OF FLOCKLESS MINISTER

Pawtucket, R. I., March 9.—Threats against the life of the Rev. George A. Hutt, Pawtucket's "Flockless Pastor," by habitues of "Moonshine Alley," destruction of church property and impromptu parades in his wake every time he entered the "wet belt" were contributory factors to his resigning his pastorate, he told the Boston American.

FILM STAR DENIES MARRIAGE REPORT

New York, March 9.—Reports that Marguerite Courtot, noted film star, and Raymond McKee, her leading man in the screen drama "Down to the Sea in Ships," have been secretly married were denied by the actress in her home in Woodhaven, N. Y. Miss Courtot said her engagement to Mr. McKee had been announced some time ago and they will probably be married in April. Mr. McKee is at present in Florida making pictures.

Try This to Break Up Cold

Prescription Used 30 Years Prized Highly

MOST people don't know that a "cold" is very similar to a headache in origin. Each is caused by congestion or gorging of the blood vessels. In the case of a "cold," the linings of the nose and throat passages become inflamed and discharge poisons that make you feel sick all over.

You can break up a cold with one or two Orangeine powders compounded from a famous prescription. Ask for it by name—Orangeine. This treatment reduces the congestions and so the cold "goes." For more than 30 years druggists have been dispensing this prescription as a positive form of relief for Headache and various kinds of pain.

Beautiful Bermuda

An Emerald in an Azure Setting

'People stopped here on their way from home to heaven, thinking they had arrived."

—Mark Twain

In forty-eight hours you can exchange New England slush, sleet and raw winds for scenes of perpetual Spring.

Right now Bermuda is full of blossoms—roses, geraniums, nasturtiums, wistaria and cacti grow wild by the roadside—and April is lily and oleander time!

Visit the wonderful sea gardens in glass-bottomed boats—the famous crystal caves—Tom Moore's home—and a host of other historic spots.

Forget business cares in the sunny luxury of sweeping hotel verandas overlooking a sapphire sea. Or in a round of golf on one of four snappy courses.

Bermuda offers you an endless variety of land and water sports under ideal conditions.

Five-day trips—every expense included—as low as $75—a full week for $100—longer periods at equally reasonable rates.

For further information and reservations just telephone or write to our hotel and travel editor, Mrs Marjorie L George or perhaps you can find it convenient to visit

Spadom stared at the table in indignant envy at the winnings of the duchess

A Russian Prince of Fabulous Wealth and Some Friends Bind Themselves to Bar All Women From Lives

THE STORY TO DATE.

Prince Michael Feder, a Russian of fabulous wealth, is at Monte Carlo when the Great War is on. With him is his friend, Attilo Castro, and other acquaintances. He succumbs to the amazement of his hearers that he is ruined. The Prince proposes that Castro and a few of their friends join forces with the proviso that no women shall enter their lives. They will be known as "The Enemies of Women." Castro tells the Prince to his own the Duchess de Dellile. She calls at the Villa Sirena and asks the Prince to finance her gambling system. He refuses, but grows interested in her, and later calls at her home where she tells him she has a son in the war. Michael tries to make love to her but she resists. He goes to the Casino and watches the Duchess win large sums.

By Vicente Blasco Ibanez, Author of "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse" and other Novels of World Renown.

THE Duchess is in the three hundred thousands already—perhaps she has more. Oh, if she would only succeed in making it millions! What fun it would be to see her break the bank!

To these comments spoken in low tones were added the adulatory exclamations of a few elderly women who looked at the conqueror with adoring eyes. "How nice she is!" "A great lady and so beautiful!"

The news of her extraordinary run of luck had circulated throughout the entire edifice. After that moment the gentlemen of the management could have been seen cussing in their office on the top floor the bad trick that chance had dared to play them. A mood of anticipation and excitement, akin to the whisperings of a recitation, spread through every nook and cranny. Those who had no tickets for the private rooms asked for news from those who were strolling out of them, repeating what they had heard, with exaggerations born of their enthusiasm.

Wonderful Luck

In the wardrobes, in the dressing rooms, in the inner corridors, in all the subterranean and winding passageways where servants, maids, and firemen lived under an eternal electric light, this news shook the sleepy calm of the humbler employes. The atmosphere of excitement was similar to that which circulated through the half deserted corridors of the Chamber of Deputies while in the semi-circle, tensing with emotion, a prime minister is fighting to survive a crisis.

The news gathered momentum as it passed from group to group with that satisfaction mingled with uneasiness which is inspired in the employes by the reverses of their employers.

"It seems that upstairs a duchess is winning a million—no, now they say it is two millions."

Rumor Works Hard.

And by the time the news had circulated throughout the entire building, the two millions had married and given birth to another. Half an hour later there were four millions, according to the lesser servants, who had been old living off gambling without ever seeing it at first hand.

Michael suddenly felt a great wave of anger against the fortunate woman. Since her smile of greeting she had not looked at him again. Several times her eyes had glanced mechanically in his direction, without taking any notice of him. He was merely one of the many curious spectators witnessing her triumph. At that moment there were only two things in the world, the pack of cards and she.

Her indifference caused him to feel the indignation of the moralist. It did not make any difference to him that Alicia was forgetting him. He repeated this to himself several times, as he did not care about that. They were not lovers. But how about her son? He remembered that morning's scene with her tears and despair. And the mother was there, abandoning herself completely to the pleasures of chance and with no feeling for anything except her perverted passion.

If someone had spoken to her about the aviator who was a prisoner, she would have had to make an effort to recall his existence. And some hours before, she had wept sincerely on thinking of his imprisonment!

This was too much for the Prince. His sense of dignity could not accept this thoughtlessness! He elbowed his way through a crowd of onlookers, after freeing himself from Spadom's shoulders, while the latter, as though hypnotized, remained with his eyes fixed on the ever-increasing treasure of the duchess.

Lalthoff began to pace the drawing-room. At one of the roulette tables he found Clorinda, playing cautiously, with Castro standing behind her chair.

In Need of Money

The Generalessa had witnessed the first part of her friend's triumph. "She's going to lose. This cannot last," she thought at that time. Then she had moved away from the table, explaining her attitude to Castro and other friends. It was impossible for her to watch Alicia tranquilly as she raked such heavy stakes. It was more excitement than she could endure.

"I hope she wins a great deal, a great deal, indeed!" she added with the generosity of a friend. "Poor Alicia, she needs it so much! Her affairs are going so badly."

She had just seated herself at another table with the faint hope that luck would remember her, too, but the murmurings which greeted her from the fronts of Quarante table, announcing the news of fresh victories, made her nervous, and she attributed the loss of several twenty franc pieces to this cause. When she found that she had lost two hundred, she felt that she must take her spite out on someone. Attilo, who followed her everywhere, was standing there, greeting her expressions of bad humor with an amusing smile.

"Castro, go away; don't stand there behind me. You must know that you've had luck. Go some three miles from here."

The Prince observed how his friend with a look of annoyance left the Generalessa and walked toward the bar.

He thought he could follow him. By talking with Attilo, he might forget the irritation which the other woman had caused him; but as he went toward the end of the room he had a new surprise.

In one of the dimly lighted corners he saw Novon, who was seated on a divan with Valeria, the Duchess' companion. On the floor! He had said he was going to spend the afternoon in Monaco or take a walk on the New road. They must have been there for a long time in this dark corner, unaware of what was going on about them, deaf to people's comments.

Attilo, with his back to the Prince, was unable to see him. As for the latter, his eyes were fixed on Novon with the affectionate seriousness of a girl who has taken advanced studies for the bachelor's degree, and is able to understand a man of science. Michael heard a snatch of the young professor's conversation:

"And when the glacial currents from the pole reach that zone, they take the place of the warm waters that rise to the surface."

He was explaining the formation of the Gulf Stream.

No one could have guessed it, observing the curiosity and intelligent amorous glances behind his glasses.

She was listening with absorbing fervor, but Michael, who knew women, imagined he had guessed her real thoughts. Side by side, with the curiosity of a pupil close in the world, the woman felt as a human being, as ignorant of everything as learned in books.

Prince Michael spent more than an hour deeply immersed in solitude on the bar stool, while now and then, until the branches of the large trees on the terrace grew soft shadows like spiderwebs in the reddish glow of the twilight mist.

A MERE DEFINITION

Gambling is a functioning of the imagination," Castro declared. "That is why you must be a poet to find that one will succeed. Painters, writers and true artists seldom gamble. Many of them have inherited great aptitudes for extraordinary vices, reaching the point of monstrosity. But none of them have a new surprise.

WALKING is the exercise to which the average person most indulges. This is equally true of the athlete person. The fact remains, however, that very, where or take part in almost any physical activity, walking is involved.

Of course a person living close to nature brought up out-of-doors like some little Tarzan of the apes, would naturally walk and run with absolute, unconscious grace, for the normal easy way is the graceful way. But in these days of artificial living conditions, many bad habits of posture and carriage need to be corrected.

Like all other bodily movements walking is the direct result of thinking. If you think fearlessly and clearly, the chances are that you walk erect without self-conscious awkwardness.

Here are two simple exercises that will help you to correct any bad habits of walking into which you may have fallen. And if you always remember that there is no need to cringe and no need to strut with self-importance since we are what we are not because of ourselves but because of the gift of life imparted to us from the infinite life—principle—if we remember this great truth we shall not fall into the habit of a shiftless and cringing or of a strutting walk.

This second exercise is especially simple. When you are alone in your room, practise walking on your tiptoes. Of course you will not ordinarily walk on your toes, but if you practise this occasionally when you are alone you will find it easier to walk the correct way before others. First the balls of your feet, then your heels should touch the ground.

The second exercise was used by a world-famous beauty in her childhood training for grace. Walk along a narrow board, keeping both heels and toes within the board. The rail of a trolley line will admirably serve this purpose if you live in a country and can walk along a secluded trolley line without danger.

This exercise is invaluable, for it cures the ugly habit of toeing out.

FURNITURE IN HOME

By Marian Moore

THE fireplace is like a business organization in that it has one "bad season" in the year.

During the Winter time, the fireplace holds the position of "the heart of the home," when the family gather around it to discuss and laugh over the events of the day, which seem so far away in the firelight's cheerful glow.

But it's a different story in the Summer time, when the family seeks the cool depths of the porch or sun room. One may think occasionally of the glowing embers in the fireplace, but a constant reminder is not pleasant. Therefore screens were invented to make it less obtrusive.

The fine screen shown in the photograph today is one proof of how much the artistry and craftmanship of the home furnishings industry are doing to make our homes more comfortable and beautiful, whether they be palaces or modest apartments.

GOOD NIGHT STORIES

BE SURE TO READ THEM TO CHILDREN

By Blanche Silver.

Billy Meets a Queer Little Siren

"WELL of all things," mused Billy, as he threw down his fishing-rod and leaned down to get a better look at the little water creature. "What in the world are you, anyway?"

The queer little water-man came to the surface of the stream, and Billy had a good look at him before the little fellow opened his mouth.

His head was very small, with two tiny head-like eyes. His snout was short, and broad, with the nostrils near the tip. But his mouth stretched from one side of his head to the other when he opened it to answer Billy.

"So you're wondering what I am?" he asked in a squeaky voice. "I'm Buddy Siren. I guess you thought I was a funny-looking thing didn't you?"

Billy looked so confused that Buddy Siren laughed heartily.

"I don't look much like the sirens you have in your fairy tales, do I?" he chuckled, as he crawled out on the bank beside Billy. "Some folks down here in the South call me 'mud-eel.' But when I introduce myself to strangers I always use my other name."

"I don't blame you," agreed Billy. "But, say, where are your hind feet?"

"I haven't any," replied Buddy Siren. "I guess they thought I didn't care for any feet. Take a good look at my front ones. Did you ever see such funny, tiny feet for a fellow as long as I am? I never did. But, pshaw! They satisfy me, except when an enemy starts after me. Then, as I have no way of defending myself, I can't always swim away fast enough."

"Well, if I had as large a mouth as you have, I'd bite him," suggested Billy.

"So would I, if I could," said Buddy. "But, say, where are you going to bite? My teeth are so far down in my throat that I couldn't if I wanted to."

"Then I'd hit him with my tail," added Billy. "I'm sure that would frighten him."

"Ho! Ho! Ho!" chuckled Buddy Siren. "That tail of mice is too weak to hurt anything. If I had nails on my feet I might scratch them. But I haven't."

For the first time Billy noticed the queer little horny cap on each of Buddy Siren's toes.

"They're good for something," exclaimed Buddy Siren. "They help me to climb up on the bank. They don't stick in the mud so easily."

"I rather like your yellow and black suit," Billy remarked. "The yellow bands offset the sombre black. Then, too, I admire your pretty gills."

"Where Are Your Hind Feet?"

"They're the things that are always causing my troubles," sighed Buddy Siren. "You see, the big fish spy my gills, and the first thing I know they nip them off."

"Gracious!" exclaimed Billy. "Then what do you do?"

"Nothing to do but grow more," chuckled Buddy Siren. "A fellow grows pretty tired waiting for them to grow again, for it takes about eight weeks. Gracious, but I'm wasting time. I must get busy! Come back again when I have more time."

And before Billy had time to say another word, Buddy Siren disappeared under the water. Billy gathered up his rod and ran home to dinner.

Another Splendid Story Tomorrow.

ETIQUETTE POINTERS

By Ann Adams

DEAR MISS ADAMS:

Should a girl of sixteen use the term "Mr." to a boy of that age or older? Is it proper for a girl to say "Thank you, I'm pleased to have met you, too," when a young man says he is pleased to have met her?

A young man called on me to spend the evening. While he was there I was knitting. Did I act properly?

CURIOUS.

TO the first question, the answer is, yes.

2.—Yes. It is very gracious and pleasant to the other person to acknowledge your pleasure at the meeting.

2.—I think that it would have been more courteous of you to have given your entire attention to the conversation. The fact that you knitted during the call easily might make the caller question your interest in the conversation.

DAILY HOROSCOPE

Mary Blake Says:

Today Lucky if You Avoid CONFLICTS

TODAY the moon in Sagittarius, ruled by Jupiter, brings about contrary aspects, some good and some bad. The influences a little after noon are somewhat better than earlier in the day.

It is not a day to choose for the transaction of any important matter. It is a day which should be dedicated to useful work of an ordinary character. Be careful to avoid any confines or disputes with the opposite sex.

You are likely to meet today those who are untruthful or morally irresponsible, and as "evil companions corrupt good manners," you should break away from any such people as quickly as possible.

The good influences of Pisces preponderate so much over the bad, that it would be foolish to allow yourself to be led astray, and yield to those temptations to which you are subject.

WHO SAID IT AND WHERE

"Give him an inch and he'll take a yard."

This familiar saying is from Thomas Hobbes's (1588-1679) "Of Liberty and Necessity."

"All men are poets at heart."

Emerson wrote in one of his essays entitled "Literary Ethics."

"Abandon hope all ye who enter here."

This was the inscription over the gate of hell, according to Dante, in his "Divine Comedy."

"Skilled to pull wires, he baffles nature's hope.
Who sure intended him to stretch a rope."

James Russell Lowell, the poet thus speaks of a political grafter in his poem, "The Boss," written about the time of the "Tweed Ring" trial in New York.

"Culture is reading."

Wrote Matthew Arnold in the preface to his "Literature and Dogma," written in 1873.

"A sharp tongue is the only edged tool that grows keener with constant use."

Is a shrewd observation of Washington Irving in "Rip Van Winkle."

"Take her up tenderly,
Lift her with care;
Fashioned so slenderly,
Young and so fair."

These oft-quoted lines are from "The Bridge of Sighs," a poem by Thomas Hood (1799-1845).

BEST RECIPES

New England housewives are requested to send in recipes for appetizing dishes. One dollar will be sent each winner printed here. Address Recipe Editor, Boston American 8, Boston, Mass.

Feather Cake

One tablespoon of soft butter, creamed with 1 cup of sugar, 1 egg well beaten, ½ cup of milk, 1 cup of sifted flour, sift again with 1 round teaspoon baking powder. Flavor with vanilla and bake in two layers in moderate oven. Fill and frost with vanilla frosting: One teaspoon melted butter, 2 teaspoons milk, vanilla, and add enough confectionery sugar to make it smooth. This is very delicious.

MISS DOROTHY C. HARRIGAN

No. 7 Tupelo street, Roxbury, Mass.

Favorite Salmon

Two slices of salmon, ¼ pound butter, ¼ teaspoonful chopped parsley, salt, pepper and grated nutmeg to taste. Lay the salmon in a baking dish, place pieces of butter over it, and add the other ingredients, rubbing a little of the seasoning into the fish. Baste frequently and when done take it out and drain. Lay it on a dish, pour caper sauce over it and serve. Salmon dressed in this way with tomato sauce is delicious.

MOTHER! BREAK CHILD'S COLD WITH "CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP"

Hurry! Clean Little Systems with This Harmless Laxative

Whatever else you give your child to relieve a bad cold, sore throat or congestion, be sure to first open the little one's bowels with "California Fig Syrup" to get rid of the poisons and waste which are making the cold and congestion. In a few hours you can see for yourself how thoroughly it works the constipation poison, sour bile and waste right out.

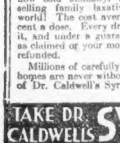
Even if you call your family physician he will praise you for telling you "California Fig Syrup" as the laxative because it never fails, never cramps or overacts, and even sick children love its pleasant taste.

Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

Third Generation is Using Syrup Pepsin

No other Laxative can replace Dr. Caldwell's in the confidence of those who use it

THERE are thousands of healthy, robust young men and women who have never in all their lives taken any other laxative for constipation than Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Their parents were given it by their parents; the grandparents are using it today. It is the one laxative ideally suited to all the family, for the little ones, effective in grownups, so compounded that elderly people, who are constantly forced to take a laxative because the intestinal muscles are weakening, find increased dosage unnecessary. This wonderful constipation remedy has been used continuously for 30 years, and over 10 million bottles are now sold annually, the largest selling family laxative in the world! The cost averages but a cent a dose. Every druggist sells it, and under a guarantee to do as claimed or your money will be refunded.



ANY FAMILY MAY TRY IT FREE

Thousands of parents are asking themselves: "How can I find a truthworthy laxative that anyone in the family can use when constipated?" I urge you to try Syrup Pepsin. I will gladly provide a liberal free sample bottle, sufficient for an adequate test. Write me today to send it. Address Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 515 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois. Do it now!

Millions of carefully conducted bogus are never without a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

Mr. J. B. Belk of Shaw, Miss., relies on it entirely to keep his children in health, and Mrs. Catherine Connolly of Jersey City, N. J., declares that not only herself but all her neighbors and friends use it and tell others about it. There is scarcely a day that someone in a family does not need it for constipation, flatulency, auto-intoxication, biliousness, indigestion, sour stomach, sick headache and cramps, and to break up fevers and colds.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a scientifically balanced compound of Egyptian senna with pepsin and pleasant-tasting aromatics. The formula is on the package. As the popularity of this natural vegetable laxative increases, the public discards the harsher pills like calomel, cathartic candy form, salt waters and powders. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin empties the bowels more cleanly and without any danger.

FORBES' VIEWS ON FINANCE

By B. C. Forbes

The man or woman or family that saves money is a better national asset than the one who doesn't.

The person or family who saves is on the right track. The one who does not, isn't, as a rule.

Therefore, everything possible should be done to make saving easy.

The best time to begin saving is, of course, very early in life. There is now before Albany a bill to give savings banks permission to send a collector into the schools to collect school deposits. This is an excellent, an extremely valuable, a fundamentally useful idea, and one worthy of adoption all over the country.

I can speak from experience about the effectiveness of teaching saving at school, for most mornings I have to pay out a penny to a seven-year-old for shining my shoes and another penny to a five-year-old for delivering the newspapers each morning, the money thus earned being wanted, very, very urgently, for tanks recently established in school.

Most normal human beings find it easier to spend than to save money. It seems to take no effort whatsoever to get rid of money. But, somehow, it costs real effort to go about the saving of money in any regular or systematic way.

Very often there is no savings bank just around the corner. Since a visit to the savings institution usually means the cost of quite some time and too often the cost of ten cents carfare, there is temptation, there is excuse, not to make the journey.

In many places the population has grown and has spread out more rapidly than savings banks have increased or spread out. In New York State, for example, only five new savings banks have been opened in the last ten years. Meanwhile, however, the expansion of population has been enormous, particularly in New York City. The trend, the flow of population, has, naturally, been away from the central parts of the city and int othe outlying sections. As a result many thousands of families find themselves quite a distance from a savings bank. To help to meet this serious situation, New York savings banks are asking the lawmakers to permit them to open one branch savings bank each within their own city.

There can be no proper reason for not permitting such a step to be taken. The State Senate has unanimously passed the measure, but the Assembly for some unknown reason, has been dolaying action. However, it is unthinkable that they will not shortly see the light and do their part in enabling hundreds of thousands of families to reap the benefit of having a savings bank opened in their midst.

You have to become pretty intimate with a family before you are told where the family savings are kept. It is astonishing how many homes will go in for expensive furnishings and valuables in some queer niche or corner inside the house, where there is always present the danger of fire.

To encourage facilties to act differently, the New York State Legislature has been asked to allow savings banks to open safe deposit vaults as part of their new program to serve the cash and file of people better. The savings banks' leaders state that they could and will rent safety boxes in their safe deposit vaults for between $2 and $3 a year. The measure should need no campaigning.

The growth of savings in this country has been remarkably notable during recent years. Even the period of widespread unemployment and general hard times which followed the collapse of the war boom did not play the havoc that was to be expected. Indeed, the increase in savings accounts and amounts has been so marked that it is difficult not to believe that prohibition has had a potent influence in bettering the financial condition of a vast number of families.

* * *

Revolutions do not occur in countries where the people as a whole are making and saving money. America is becoming more and more a nation of savers and investors. And of course the more the American people can save and invest, the greater can become the development of the nation's resources and the more widespread can become the prosperity of the people.

* * *

Most savings banks throughout the country need to be sleepy, unenterprising institutions.

Happily, they are showing signs of waking up and becoming alert, progressive, aggressive, effective developers of thrift and savings.

FAVORS STUDY OF BUILDING HEIGHTS

Recommendation of the appointment of a commission to study the problem of regulation of building heights before definite legislative action is taken to remove the present 125-foot limit for buildings, is contained in the report of the committee of the Boston Real Estate Exchange, which has been accepted and adopted by the Exchange's directors.

The report, which was prepared by Francis R. Hart, chairman; William H. Ballard, Robert H. Gardiner, Jr., Augustus P. Loring, Jr., and Howard Whitcomb, considers in various arguments in favor of and against removal of the restriction sufficiently important to warrant careful consideration by an impartial commission before definite action is taken.

After reviewing the building laws which now limit the height of buildings to two and one-half times the width of the street, but not to exceed 125 feet in height, the report says in part:

"An agitation has now been started for immediate legislation to change the settled policy of the last thirty-two years in the matter of building heights and several bills and amendments to bills have been introduced and are now pending in the Legislature.

"The Boston Real Estate Exchange has done its best to investigate the merits of and the objections to these matters in the short time that it has had for that purpose and begs to present the following considerations and suggestions:

"1—The height limit was originally imposed by an exercise of the police power for the benefit of the public at large. While it considered in fairness as between owners of land and tended to prevent one from getting an advantage at the expense of his neighbors by cutting off his light and turning the lower stories of his building into dark cellars. It was primarily intended to prevent congestion of traffic in the streets and on the sidewalks, to insure plenty of light and air in the streets, to prevent overcharging of pipes and sewers, etc. The fire hazard, and most of all, to lend to the lateral instead of the upward expansion of the city.

OBJECTIONS TO REMOVAL.

"All these objects are as desirable now as they ever were, some of them, indeed, are even more obvious than in 1891. Since then the subways have been built, the railroad stations have been consolidated, and the automobile has appeared. The congestion of traffic in the streets is enormously increased by automobiles, both moving and parked, along the thoroughfares. The approaches to the North and South Stations are seriously overcrowded every morning and evening. The subway stations are jammed at rush hours. Can we afford to increase the height limit and add to these inconveniences without the most careful consideration and investigation of the problem from all angles? If the present limit had not been imposed, the business section would be grown up into the air along State street and would not have spread out as it has done to the southward. Higher but fewer first-class buildings would have been erected. This would have resulted in valleys instead of spreading them out. It would also have reduced the number of effective fire stops. It is well known that there is no better fire stop than a fireproof building, except a row of fireproof buildings. These we are now getting in other parts of the city and not in State street only. The question is not whether or not it is better for the city to have this trend continue.

"II.—It is suggested that as buildings of fourteen or fifteen stories are more profitable than lower buildings, raising the height limit will encourage building, provide more space and reduce rents. That the cost of construction has advanced so much since the older buildings were erected that it has become necessary to allow new buildings to go up to a more profitable height in order to tempt capital into build'ng enterprise, whereas construction will not keep up with the demand for space and the existing buildings will enjoy a monopoly.

"Actual experience shows that capital does not shun investment in buildings of 125 feet or less. Seven first-class fireproof office buildings are now under construction in Boston and will be completed by 1923. The estimated cost of these buildings is $20,000,000, and the office space which will be provided above the street floor amounts to approximately 1 023,000 square feet.

HIGH BUILDINGS PROFITABLE.

"III.—It is generally understood that on a sufficiently large lot a building of fourteen or fifteen stories is more profitable than a lower and probably than a higher building. Therefore, any owner of land who contemplate building does not such an extension of the height limit as will allow of fifteen stories, and persons who have land for sale for building purposes can get more for it if the height is raised.

"IV.—Owners who have already built up to the old limit, which was established first in 1891, object to an extension of the limit because when they built they were restricted in the use of their land by the State, acting under the police power; they received no compensation for such restriction except the assurance that their neighbor would be similarly restricted, and if the restrictions are now relaxed they are put at a disadvantage.

"As we now see the problem we are opposed to any change in the height limit which has existed and worked well for a generation, until the whole matter has been investigated by a competent commission which would have time to study the question from every point of view and present a well-considered plan for the best interests of the city and perhaps for the State.

Edward F Cassell has sold to Lillian R. Siegel the property at Nos 143-145 Stanwood street, Dorchester consisting of two-family house and 6,000 square feet of land, assessed for a total of $6,800.

Edward F. Cassell has bought from Ida Epperich the six three-family houses and 20,000 square feet of land at Nos. 177-183 Broadway, Everett, assessed for $36,000.

ROXBURY TRANSACTIONS

Ernest Drew has purchased from Armen Seghpossian, title coming through James T. Fitzgerald, the brick six-family house and 4,500 square feet of land at Nos. 2930-2932 Washington street, Roxbury. The total tax value is $6,700. The parties in the transaction were represented by Cruff & Byrne and J. D. Bruce, brokers.

SEVERAL DORCHESTER SALES

John and Mary Rumki have sold to Stanislaus Werkowski the three-family frame dwelling and 6,434 square feet of land at No. 284 Fuller street, Dorchester. The transaction was primarily intended to prevent congestion of traffic in the streets and on the sidewalks, to insure plenty of light and air in the streets, to prevent overcharging of pipes and sewers, etc. The fire hazard, and most of all, to lend to the lateral instead of the upward expansion of the city.

Cecelia Loelibe has conveyed to Mihalina Kissell the three-family frame dwelling and 3,332 square feet of land at No. 6 Tucker street. Dorchester. The property is taxed at for $9,000 on the building and $600 on the land.

The above sales were negotiated by the office of A. J. Kupasis of South Boston.

Here's an Imaginary Genie

There Is a REAL Genie Infinitely More Powerful Than Any of Us Imagine

Copyright, 1923, Star Company

THIS MONSTER IS NOT REAL

This picture from the AMERICAN MAGAZINE, published with the BOSTON SUNDAY ADVERTISER, illustrates old belief in the marvelous genie that, when summoned, would appear, fearful to look upon, but humbly bowing and carrying out any orders.

You met this genie long ago in the Arabian Nights. Aladdin would rub his wonderful lamp, the genie would appear and, instantly, when commanded, supply ready-made palaces, riches, jewels, beautiful parks, in which the owner of the lamp could live in blissful idleness forever.

Every child knows that there never was such a genie living in any part of the world. Nevertheless, such a genie exists. His real name is SCIENTIFIC GENIUS. He lives, and always has lived, not in an old Oriental lamp, but inside the living human brain.

Rubbing the old lamp would produce nothing. But working the human brain and its inexhaustible genius will produce everything, and infinitely more than any writer of Arabian Nights or any other Oriental could possibly imagine.

Our structures of steel and glass, modern, magnificent skyscrapers, such as the East never dreamed of, are produced by that genius of the brain.

Our magnificent public parks, giant ships like great cities that cross the ocean, machines that fly in the air and swim under the sea, messages that carry the human voice across the ocean, through the ether, without wires; great magnets that lift tons of steel and drop them by the touch of an electric switch—those and thousands of others are among the marvels of the real magic, the magic of science, the work of genius in the brain.

This picture shows men before they could do anything and could only think about it. The great achievements around you, huge factories, rushing trains, gliding automobiles, flying machines above the clouds, all show what men can accomplish when VAGUE IMAGINING is transformed into SCIENTIFIC ACTION.

The Price of Sugar

Commissioner Hultman Advises Public to Buy Sparingly to Defeat Speculators' Extortion

The price of sugar has been jumping skyward for some little time. It is a necessary of life and every time it increases in price the cost of living goes up and there is more or less hardship in its wake.

Eugene C. Hultman, Massachusetts Commissioner on the Necessaries of Life, has made a report that after a special investigation he is unable to find any justification for this increase in the price of sugar. He says that in his opinion it is purely a speculative increase without economic justification. Further, Mr. Hultman says that "speculation in raw sugar is already showing signs of slowing down. The householders have so far apparently REFUSED TO BE STAMPEDED INTO HOARDING SUGAR. Consequently the speculator is unable to further increase the price without becoming overloaded with sugar. He must wait for abnormal demand from sugar hoarders. The people possess the only effective weapon of preventing sugar prices from following the 1919-20 artificial speculative levels BY REFUSING TO HOARD SUGAR. Some householders and dealers even now have on hand sugar purchased in 1920 for as high as twenty-five cents a pound."

Mr. Hultman also calls attention to the fact that transportation conditions are very different today from their condition in 1919 and 1920. Today sugar can be transported from any part of the world where there is a surplus to break any monopoly which the sugar planters in this country and in Cuba and speculators may attempt to establish.

In short, Commissioner Hultman advises us to pay no attention to the talk about high prices in sugar and to buy only what you need and even scrimp a little to let speculators understand that they are not going to "get away with" any extortion.

BEWARE OF VERTICAL PREJUDICE

By Dr. Charles Fleischer

THAT seems to suggest a disease. And so it is, a very old disease.

One, too, from which even few who disbelieve in disease are likely to be free.

For it is the rarest person who does not suffer from Vertical Prejudice.

Sounds something like jaundice, doesn't it? And that is what it is—a sort of spiritual jaundice.

No kind of prejudice towards persons is healthful. But of all prejudices and aversions, the vertical prejudice is the most poisonous.

A vertical prejudice results from curious ignorance of the oneness of the human soul; a queer notion that the various elements of the human race are partitioned off from one another by vertical lines.

According to that idea, those within your partition are all right—O. K. or K. K. K.—and those within other boxes are all wrong.

Love thy neighbor, then, must mean to include only those on your side of the fence. Those on the other side it becomes a virtue to hate and to persecute.

But you are suffering from a peculiarly poisonous phase of "Original Sin," when your prejudice is vertical and you shut off, as by a split wall of Hi-mill, vast groups of your fellowmen.

As, for instance, when Catholic and Protestant, Jew and Gentile, White and Black, German and French, Male and Female, thus take for granted mutual aversion, hatred, unsympathy, or even suspicion.

As a democrat, you must know that the world of human beings is made up of individuals and not of masses.

So look down your vertical partitions of prejudice. You'll see that your fellow-beings are fairly decent and likeable, like yourself—only not so.

Hawaii Tourist Record Broken

HONOLULU, March 9.—Reports submitted by George T. Armitage, executive secretary of the Hawaiian Tourist Bureau, covering the year 1922, show that a new record has been set in tourist traffic in Hawaii. Armitage reported a total of 12,342 arrivals at Honolulu during the year, which exceeds by several hundred the record of 1920.

Sacco Case

Editor Boston American:

I arrived in Massachusetts two weeks ago and I am very much interested in the Sacco case. Is the Commonwealth of this State so yellow as to heed the demands of a few and prolong his execution? It seems so. He was given fair trials and convicted; so why hesitate to put him out of the way the same as any other murderer? It is the talk of other States that I have visited.

Citizen Teachers

Editor Boston American:

We wish to congratulate the two members of the school committee of Boston who voted to employ resident citizens as teachers in our public schools of Boston. Home rule should be maintained in this respect unless there becomes a necessity for employing teachers who are not citizens. That this necessity has not yet arisen is my belief, knowing that Boston always has maintained a high educational standard which seems unfortunately, to have somewhat deteriorated in the past few years, because, perhaps, of a strong conservative element in the majority members of the school committee. This is to be deplored, as a truly progressive element should predominate, and a broad democratic spirit displayed in all decisions of the school committee. There should be a majority and not a minority report upon these educational matters which concern greatly the welfare of many citizens who have not the viewpoint of Beacon Hill or the Back Bay!

ED. NOTE—The address of Mrs. R. F. will be forwarded you.

Children's Things

Editor Helping Hand:

I have baby carriage and bassinet, some rompers for a child about eighteen months, some dresses for a little girl from four to five years, also a coat and cap for a girl of six years and a woman's plush coat about 38-40. I would give a woman's heavy brown Winter coat and black velour hat and voile dress, about 42, to somebody who would do some knitting for me in exchange, such as children's sweaters and caps. I supply the yarn.

MRS. C. A. D.

ED. NOTE—The address of Mrs. J. M., who asked for a carriage, of Mrs. O. E. W., who needs clothing for herself and girls, and of Mrs. J. J. T., who needs a bassinet, will be sent you. Many thanks. Your other offer will be held for replies.

Offers Mackinaw

Editor Helping Hand:

I noticed in your column tonight that the mackinaw which Walter asked for has been given away. I have one for a twelve-year boy which Walter may have. It is almost new. I also have a bewpio doll for the little girl who signed A. L. Also have a man's overcoat in a mixture pattern, in good condition, size 38, and a child's coat, fairly good, about eight or ten years.

MRS. C. W. H.

ED. NOTE—Walter's address, the address of H. L., and those for a coat, and of Mrs. C. C., who needs children's clothes, will be sent you. Thank you.

Overcoat and Suit

Editor Helping Hand:

I have an overcoat, size 38 or 40, also a suit, coat and three, size 8, for the old man "Jamaica" spoke about. Also some children's dresses, sacque, from four to ten, for anyone that needs them.

MRS. W. W. B.

ED. NOTE—"Jamaica's" address and that of Mrs. B., who asked for girl's clothes, will be sent you. Thank you.

For Boy of Twelve

Editor Helping Hand:

I have a mackinaw that will fit a boy of twelve, Walter, for instance, and will be glad to forward same to him.

F. A. D.

ED. NOTE—Walter has been supplied, but the address of Mrs. M. J. T., who has a boy twelve, will be forwarded you.

London Bus War Grows Bitter

LONDON, March 9.—Wars, rumors of wars and threats of wars are becoming stale topics in London conversation, but occasionally some new "war scare" comes along that arouses interest.

For the moment the popular "war" is London's "bus war."

The General Omnibus Company has for years operated its buses on the streets of London without competition. In the last six months at least four independent bus lines have opened up in competition, and now there is a "bus war" on.

The new buses find that they have an unwelcome escort. For every independent bus operating on the streets there is a flotilla of General Omnibus Company buses to act as escort. The independent bus man finds himself sandwiched in between a fleet of big red buses, and he has traffic troubles and is generally beaten to the passenger stop, so that his customers are few.

Public sympathy seems to be in favor of the independent buses, however, and they are managing to exist.

Great news from California! The Southern Pacific Railroad has developed two thousand horsepower from Sonoma County geysers and expects to run every train and wheel along the coast from steam wells to be sunk in a little tract of ten square miles.

Engineers have already put overalls on Vesuvius. That old grumble box will yet do all the important chores of Italian industry.

It seems as if we have just nibbled at the crust of possibility. There's no telling what will be found when we cut through to the plums.

Industry May Move to the Yellowstone

The tropics are the richest stretch of the globe and the people who live there, the poorest and most primitive. Surfeit's a soporific. Need is the brain-strop.

Necessity runs the post-graduate school of civilization. We always discover what we lack when hard enough pressed.

The Yellowstone region may some day become the great manufacturing centre of the United States. After we run out of oil and start to scrape the continent's coal bins.

The djinns of imagination are already busy in that weird furnace room of vulcan.

Fancy is erecting steel plants beside Old Faithful. Dynamos whirr in the hot mists, acres of smokestacks crowd the fantastic barrens. The paint pots turn to cooking stoves for canning factories. Cities for a thousand miles around run pipes and wires from their radiators and transformers to the incalculable stores of energy waiting there.

Five Thousand-Mile Air Cruisers

An incredible picture. Jules Verne drew a longer bow in his time. And look how many of his arrows have landed.

Submarines, armored tanks, the tour of the world in eighty days—plenty of planes could now take the trip in eight, with a continuous fuel supply.

The Navy Department announces an air cruiser of ten ton capacity, for five thousand-mile straight flights.

Germany will deliver another like it in August. It may come direct from Berlin to Chicago. These 680-foot dirigibles can fly from Pole to Pole at a sixty-mile-an-hour clip. Helium never freezes.

What needless suffering might have been saved if Peary could have pushed North in such machines as Amundsen is flying.

The next generation will run to the Arctic as casually as we journey to Egypt.

An Alarming Vision for the Railroads

Star taxies also spin their propellers around the next corner.

If the inventor of a certain all-metal machine speaks from accurate estimate sheets, winged buggies will shortly be available for any pocket within Henry Ford's reach.

Recent trial flights partly corroborate the prophesy of planes at three or four hundred dollars.

Railroads must do some tall calculating if they expect to survive competition in two dimensions.

Highways packed with freighting trucks and heavens filled with commuters and farmers delivering milk and produce to the consumer's door present an alarming vision to the steadiest of dividend payers.

Co-operative marketing in his own State has proved pretty much of a flivver.

At least N. P. Nelson of Deal, North Dakota, must think so. He shipped $336 worth of potatoes to a Minneapolis exchange and got back $1.30. The commission men deducted $42 and freight charges were $180.60.

An incident which partly explains agricultural enthusiasm for government operation of common carriers, which Senator Cummins now states may be necessary.

Surgeons are also dumbfounded by the discovery of a piece of steel in the left ventricle of a San Francisco man's heart.

We'll never know it all.
